Hi Marian,

You're a dear to think of driving to Lake Placid - I wouldn't dream of you doing that. My idea was for us to drive to you, meet at a restaurant if you'd like. My mom has a couple of cousins from her branch of the family who live in Punta Gorda that she'd like to see, and we just thought Venice was too close to pass up without asking you.

It does sound like the rotator cuff thing is quite a job. Must be so frustrating for him too. I didn't realize all that was involved, right down to the daily details. I certainly understand if you don't feel up to one more thing.

My uncle, Bill Gipson (my father's twin) lives outside of Chicago a bit, in LaGrange, IL. He made a trip down to Jamestown a couple of years ago and did quite a bit of digging there. He found Arch and Vashti's graves. He photographed and transcribed every grave in the Pioneer Cemetery (he's an avid photographer - hard to keep him from taking pictures!)

What I have from Jules is a family tree with some dates, and the passed-down stories that he got from his grandfather. I've filled in quite a bit more in dates and details since I got the material from him. That Arch, Jr. is a slippery character. I'd be curious to see what clues about him that Jules left with you that I perhaps haven't seen. I'll put together some sort of organized summary for you of what Bill and I have found that expands on Jules' work.

My husband (Allen) is a geologist. We were living in Houston, TX before. Then his employer got bought up by a company out of Switzerland, and they set-up a technology center outside of Oslo 3 years ago. We were thrilled to get the opportunity to go. We'd always liked the idea of living in another country for a time. We live in Asker, about 22 km from Oslo on the SW side of the fjord. My title is the official-wife-who-follows-husband :) I spend my time volunteering, taking language courses (managed to get fluent in Norwegian), and researching my family roots.

My first experience with rein meat was when I went to the grocery store for the first time in Norway. I picked up a chub of frozen meat that I thought was hamburger - nope! I've since had moose, which I like much better. They sell "steaks" of whale meat at our local grocery, but when I see it my conscience starts kicking me, and I haven't tried it yet!

Take care,

Brenda

Dear Marian,

What a coincidence that you are in Florida. My mother lives in Lake Placid, FL. I currently live overseas, in Norway, where my husband is working for the time being. I will be visiting my mother in Florida from April 13 to 25. She is also an avid family researcher, though it is my father's line who is the Gibson.

Would you perhaps be interested in meeting for a "family history" lunch or chat while I'm back home? Would the two of you to be up to it by that time, with your husband still recuperating?

I expect most of your materials regarding family history are back in Indiana, but I could bring along the results of my research to share, if it is of interest to you. You have probably already learned a great deal about Archibald's other children while researching Ezekiel, and you may already have some of the same information I've found. But, I expect that's what we could compare and find out. Let me know if it sounds like a possibility for you. If not, then we can always continue to correspond by mail and e-mail.

All the best to you,

Brenda

Hi Marian!

I am so glad to hear back from you. I had sent a letter to an Indianapolis address listed in Jules' notes, to a Marian Shirley. I thought Shirley was the surname. The letter came back "addressee unknown" just a couple of days ago. I had no idea that you were the same person!

My father (Bob Gipson), his twin (Bill Gipson), and I have all corresponded with Jules on family history over some years. We traveled down to Texas to the Gipson reunion they hold annually and met with him. He generously shared a lot of his research with us. We are trying to fill in the gaps and take it further. You are right, he is now deceased. He passed away in late 2002. He told my uncle that none of his kids or relatives had an interest in family history except him. We really hope his research doesn't get lost.

My Uncle Bill dug up some interesting info. and leads a couple years ago in the Boone and Hendricks county courthouses, library and historical societies. But we didn't have as many leads as we do now, so he's talked about going back again soon. I recently made contact with the gal who has that original LWT of Archibald. They found it in the attic when they were cleaning out her husband's mother's things - unbelievable, isn't it?

I look forward to corresponding when your husband is well again. I've been so curious about Ezekiel, as I did not find Lucinda on censuses after 1840. The only hint I have had is that there was a 12 year old girl named Lucinda Gibson living with the John Gibson family in about 1860. I thought she might be Ezekiel's daughter because of the name.

Do you have the possibility to send/receive ged.com files? Thinking that may be a simple way to exchange data.

Thanks for taking the time to respond, and best wishes to your husband.

Brenda Weedman

Dear Marian,

Your e-mail address was forwarded to me by Beverly Mundy. She suggested I get in touch with you.

I descend from the James M. Gibson line of Archibald Gibson's children:
James M.Gibson - Sarah Davis
James R. Gibson/Gipson - Leanna Chew
Charles Wallace Gipson - Minnetta Heron
Charles Morton Gipson - Bethel Beckingham
Robert E. Gipson - Carol Buckrop
Brenda Gipson

I've traced James' family pretty thoroughly from Indiana to Texas, to Montana and California (but of course, it's never quite done!). At present I am working on finding/placing the spouses and descendents of Archibald and Bathsheba's other children, as well as researching Archibald himself in NC, KY and IN.

I have found all of the census records for Arch and children from 1790 through 1850, with some up to 1880. All but one of the marriage records for Arch's children has been located/obtained. So far the descendents have been found for John R., James, Jesse, Archibald Jr., and Elizabeth with grand- and greatgrand-children for some. I recently made contact with a g-g-grandaughter of Jesse, which has been a fun working together.

Ezekiel and William, sons of Archibald, are proving more difficult to find after 1840 or so. They seem to have died young, but I haven't proof. I'm not sure if I've found their widows or not. Only have clues at this point. I'm also not having luck finding the names of descendents of Nancy Gibson and Hiram Young, nor descendents of Rachel Gibson and her husbands, Abraham/Absalom Dunn/Dent/Deen, and unknown Mr. Robert.

I'm very curious to hear what you have discovered along the way in the course of your research, and if we might possibly be able to fill some gaps for each other. I have tried to be diligent about getting copies of original source documents as I go, so am happy to share any of them that you might like to have.

How do you descend from Archibald and Bathsheba?

Best regards,

Brenda (Gipson) Weedman

It was also said that she was so large that a special chair was built for her to use; and that she had to turn sideways to go through a door. Archibald and Vashti were living with her in 1850. PEH surmised that Joseph was a cousin. I think it is possible that he was a son of Zachariah probable brother of Archibald Gibson.)

Sources of Information and Other Notes: Family records compiled in the 1920's by my uncle Pierre E. Haynes (PEH) (b. 1885; d. 1950.) Some of the Gibson/ Gipson information came to him from other family members, quoting Samuel Preston Gipson, Archibald's grandson, who said that Vashti was of "French descent."

Also all the usual public records--VA; NC, KY, IN census, tax records, deeds, court records, marriage records, histories, etc.

The ages of Archibald and Vashti in the census and on their gravestone are inconsistent. I finally averaged out the possibilities!

The list of their children came from PEH and has been more or less confirmed by other descendants of theirs. Now confirmed by the lwt of Archibald.

Archibald owned land on Cranberry Creek, Wilkes (Ashe) Co. NC--50 acres 1793. In Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC census 1790 and 1800; being classified as free persons of color in 1800. In Floyd Co. KY census 1810, 1820; Hendricks Co. IN census 1830, 1840, 1850. PEH also named Absolom, Jordon and Joel also as possible sons of Archibald and Vashti--but I found no evidence--even circumstantial--that they belonged in this family. Joel was the son of Ezekiel, the presumed brother of Arch.

An Ezekiel Gibson who married Rachel — appears to have been a brother of Archibald's. He died Floyd Co. KY before 1842, leaving heirs named in a couple of land records. He appeared in the census: Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC 1790 and 1800 (also as free persons of color) and in Floyd Co. KY 1820.

Zachariah Gibson is also listed in Ashe/Wilkes Co. NC records as well as Floyd Co. KY records. My uncle says he started the first tan yard in Jamestown; but I have never found any record of this. He was listed as one of 4 free persons of color in Floyd Co. 1820 census, living with a white female and 1 white male under 10.

A descendant of a Martin Gibson, who is related somehow, says that Archibald and Vashti lived for a time in Madison Co. KY with brother Ezekiel and Vashti's father Levin Cole c. 1797-1810. It appears that there was some traveling back and forth between KY and NC between c. 1797 and c.1820. My uncle said that John Gibson, Archibald's son, met his wife Elizabeth (Betsy) Hopper during one trip across the mountains. Elizabeth made the trip barefoot! She is in the census 1850 and 1880

Martin Gibson died before 1840 in Perry Co. KY and his widow moved back to her family in Tazewell Co. VA. -

Archibald Jr. was a noted fighter of both Indians and Mexicans; and lost an eye in the Mexican war. He is in the census Gonzales, TX 1830.

James, son of Archibald and Vashti, had two wives.(?) –May have been two James! He may have had them both at the same time–one in IN and one in TX - in the 1830 census, it looks as though he may have been counted twice; it's possible that one of the wives was Indian.

Sources and notes: The above information was sent to me in 1996 by Beverly A. Munday, 1356 Longarzo Place, West Palm Beach, FL 33415. Mrs. Munday's husband was descended from Levin Cole. The names of the children and their spouses came largely from deeds settling the estate of Levin Cole.

Sarah Francis m. 2nd John Cunningham c. 1817

Phone conversation with B. Munday 8-9-98 in which she suggested that Levin Cole was not Melungeon, and therefore his daughter Vashti and her Melungeon husband (Archibald Gibson) were "ostracized" from the family.
She pointed out that it appears that Arch and Vashti did not receive and sell their share of the Levin Cole estate until some 15 yrs. after Levin's death.

Dear Curt: Ed and I will be happy to meet you on July 6 for lunch. As to where to eat, we're sort of blank. We haven't eaten at Cafe Nora in ages -- don't even know if it's open for lunch. We like Snooty Fox but it can be kind of noisy. Your suggestions are always good -- what is your thought? We're flexible. Let me know. Marian P.

Sources and Other Notes: Family Records of Pierre E. Haynes, grandson of Samuel Gipson; Hendricks Co., Clinton Co. IN census - 1830, 1840, 1850, 1880; Boone Co. marriage records; Hendricks, Boone and Clinton Co. IN land records.

Ezekiel's estate was not settled until 1851. Peter B. Kennedy was appointed guardian of Rachel, Sarah Ellen and William Clinton Co. IN 11 May 1846.

Lucinda Jane (Jenny) Johnson was the "daughter of Andrew Johnson" in the Floyd Co. KY marriage records. I was unable to determine which of two Andrew Johnsons was her father. After Ezekiel's death, Lucinda had two more children who went by the surname Gibson, although obviously not the children of Ezekiel:

(1) Louisa Catherine Gibson, b. 22 Jan 1839, Clinton Co. IN - m. Moses Breese, d. 16 Aug 1912 in Kentland, IN
(2) George Washington Gibson, b. 26 Sep 1942, Clinton Co. IN - m. 1st Mary Elizabeth Ferguson; m. 2nd Mary C. Wills. He d. 3 Jan 1885, is buried in Kirklin, IN.

To quote PEH - "We obtain the impression that George W. was an illegitimate child of Lucinda and possibly an Indian. There is a story that in after years certain Indians came to claim George W. and induce him to leave and go west. Samuel Preston gave him a farm to keep him at Clinton Co." (I found no evidence of this in land records.)

Lucinda finally m. 2nd Andrew J. Wells 6 Oct 1844; and is ten years younger in the 1850 census! Andrew was the younger brother of Hiram Wells who was the husband of Lucinda's daughter Nancy!

Allen Gibson bought land from Nancy (Gibson) and Hiram Wells 21 Dec 1843, which represented Nancy's share of Ezekiel's estate. In June 1845 Allen and brother Samuel Preston were driving a yoke of oxen hauling logs for Nathan Kirk (for whom Kirklin was named) when a dog frightened the team, and Allen was killed by falling logs.

Dear Mark – received your copies of the documents today. Will spend some time deciphering them. Meantime here is the family of Samuel Gipson. I have a picture of him with his whole family, taken after Mary died . I don't think I mentioned that my references to PEH is Pierre E. Haynes – my uncle (1885-1951), who was the family genealogist and historian. He was a physicist; and national authority (in his day) of rare gases. I have located public records which confirm his information.

I plan to send you most of what I know about Archibald and Vashti. I am glad to have someone to pass this information on to – someone who cares! – Regards, Marian P.

P.S. where did you get the name Ida as a daughter of Samuel?

Sources and notes: Pierre Haynes' family records and additional information from descendants. I remember most of the above people, and many of their offspring. I seem to recall hearing that the family name was changed to Gipson when it was mis-spelled in a deed. The family went along with the new spelling because they were afraid they would lose the land otherwise. It appears the name has always been spelled both ways in all the records anyway.

Eva L. Gipson Haynes was the mother of Pierre E. Haynes, compiler of so many of our family records.

REPORT ON RESEARCH AND EVALUATION OF PREVIOUS RESEARCH ON GIBSON FAMILY IN WILKES/ASHE COUNTIES, N. C.

It appears to me that you have researched the available records in your attempt to identify the parents and siblings of Archibald Gibson. I checked the deed index and did not see anything other than what you have. I also checked the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions and found nothing. Nor did the wills shed any light on the Gibsons. You have already covered the extant tax lists.

Your notes indicate that you are aware that Ashe County was formed from Wilkes in 1799. The Gibsons were no doubt in that part of Wilkes that became Ashe. Deeds in that county may give additional information that might be helpful, especially if some of the men who moved away gave power of attorney to someone in that county. If you want to try that route, I can get the records for the appropriate years and search them for information, or at least clues. It might be helpful to scan the deeds for both counties during the period that the Gibsons were known to be there. I have found that there is a mention of persons and relationships in these deeds that are never found in the index. Of course this route is taken only when one is "grasping at straws."

The enclosed maps show you that the area where the Gibsons lived in Wilkes on Cranberry and Obed Creeks became Ashe County in 1799. Any power of attorney records would probably be in the deeds in that county. At least, it looks like it was about that time before the Gibsons left N. C.

It appears to me that these Gibsons originated in the part of Pittsylvania County, Va. that became Henry County in 1776. As you say, there is no proof, but circumstantial evidence points to this conclusion.

It also looks like Ezekiel and Zachariah who were in Ashe County, then in Floyd County, Kentucky were Archibald's brothers. Thomas, who was on Obed Creek, may also have been a brother to them. Joel is another likely candidate for another sibling, as well as William who married Mary Spikes in 1782. William was the only one who married in Wilkes County.

These Gibsons appear to have arrived in Wilkes County just after the Revolutionary War. They all appear about the same time and leave about the same time, within about 25 year, so they were there a relatively short time. There are no Gibsons in either of the published pioneer families in the Wilkes Heritage books.

Have you ever checked Rev. War Pension Applications for information? If you have not done this, it might worth a try, and I can do it for you if you prefer. Frequently, there are Bible Records and migration patterns indicated in the depositions.

It is difficult to tell, but it appears that all of the men in Wilkes County were about the same age with none old enough to be the father, appearing that they followed the somewhat common practice of moving at the death of parents.

You have at least two hours left on your advance payment. I will wait until I hear from you before I go further.

Mark – These are my records at the moment. Will have to add/correct the information regarding Rachel's children. which you have sent to me. I'm very certain that most of the following is correct.

I descend from Samuel and Mary (Nicholson) Gipson.(gr. grandparents) my grandmother was Eva L. Gipson who married George E. Haynes; their daughter Mary Belle was my mother. She married Frank V. Osborn. I was Marian Haynes Osborn, b. 1925. I married Walter L. Shirley Jr.; had Frank 1951; Alice 1953 and Charley, 1957. Walt died 1992 and I remarried Ed Porter in 1993 – so I am Marian Haynes Osborn Shirley Porter! I was born June 16, 1925 – am 77 yrs. old. Getting kind of decrepit!

Next installment – the children of Samuel and Mary (Nicholson) Gipson. I have a picture of him and his descendants! – Faded, but still useful.

After that, if you can stand it, the family of Archibald and Vashati (Cole) Gibson and all I know about them.

This is a busy time of year. We were on a cruise to Costa Rica until last week end. Returned absolutely bushed. Got our tree up today; want to decorate out doors tomorrow. Still have to wrap stuff for the old man! Will communicate as time allows.

The Descendants of Archibald Gibson of Indiana

Pierre E. Haynes - 1931 - Filed with the Library of Congress

From "Texas & Texans" (p.258), we find that a Gibson family of Scotch Irish descent settled in the northern part of N.Carolina. There were nine sons about 1800, including Absalom and Jesse, who settled in Texas. This scant bit of information is all we know of the beginning of this family.

From descendants of Archibald Gibson we know that his son Archie was in the Mexican war in Texas. He was alive in 1875, and his age on that date indicates he was born in 1799 or 1800.

The descendants of Archibald Gibson are of a single opinion that the family is Scotch-Irish, coming from the north of Ireland. It is doubtful, however, that Archibald himself was born in Ireland or Scotland.

The North Carolina census of 1790 shows several Gibsons by the name of Archibald or its variations. Wilkes County had Andrew, Jordan, Joel, Arche, Ezekiel, and Dorothy. Stokes County had Valentine, Garrott, Archelaus, James, John, William.

Indiana records indicate that Archibald was born in 1760 and married about 1780. According to these dates, Archibald should have been an householder with a wife and several children. The records of the 1790 census are not very illuminating. Arche of Wilkes County, N.C. had in his household one male under 16 and nine females. Archelaus of Stokes County had one male under 16 and two females. Neither of these seems to fit the case exactly, but in Stokes County we do not find the familiar Gibson names of Jordan, Joel and Ezekiel; and we are therefore led to believe that our Archibald lived in Wilkes County, NC. He owned land on Cranberry Creek, Wilkes County in 1793.

Of the nearby Gibson families having an Archibald, we find only one record of any importance. This is the will of James Gibson in Bedford County, Virginia, filed for probate 2-26-1765. The heirs mentioned are Randall, James, Joseph, John, Archibald, Elizabeth (Canler), Catherine (Hale) and Hanner (Cook). Among the children and relatives of our Archibald who appear later in Hendricks County, Indiana, we find all of these names except Randall and Hanner (Hannah). John R. Gibson, a son of Archibald, might have been John Randall Gibson. From Bedford County, Va. came the Prestons who were so active in settling Floyd and Johnson Counties, Ky. It is quite possible that our Archibald Gibson was descended from or related to the James Gibson, who is mentioned above.

From gravestone records, we learn that Archibald Gibson was born in 1760. He was married in 1780 to a woman that we know as "Veshta" (from the gravestone) or "Bashiba (from land records). Her last name is unknown. He died at Jamestown, Indiana 2-13-1855, aged 95 years. She died at the same place 10-4-1855, aged 92 years. Family tradition says they lived together 75 years. Archibald owned land on Cranberry Creek, Wilkes County, NC in 1793. He received a government grant in Floyd County, KY 2-27-1821 and is probably the same who took government land in Perry County, KY 6-2-1824. He sold land in Perry County in 1827 and 1828 and bought land in Hendricks County, near Jamestown, IN in 1828. He and his wife Bashiba transferred this land to Absalom Dent, a son-in-law, 3-1-1838.

Great difficulty was been met in determining the names of the children of Archibald and Veshta Gibson. If he is the same as we find in Wilkes County census of 1790, there were undoubtedly daughters who married and stayed in NC. There is also the great confusion caused by the use of family names in the various family branches. Besides those who might have stayed behind in NC, we have reason to believe that Archibald had Nicholas, Zachariah, John R., Ezekiel, Jesse, Absalom, Archie, James, William, Rachel and Elizabeth. Various members of the family commenced to arrive in Floyd and Perry Counties, Ky. as early as 1816. Probably the first to arrive in Indiana was James who bought land near the present sight of Jamestown, Ind. 9-19-1826. The village was probably named after him or James Matlock, a partner of John R. Gibson. The Gibson family is definitely connected with the village of Jamestown, and local histories seem to assume that they were residents there. As a matter of fact, they were mostly landholders in Hendricks County, immediately south of Jamestown which is in Boone County. Most of the records of the family are at Danville, county seat of Hendricks County.

Of the above sons of Archibald Gibson, Nicholas probably stayed behind in Floyd County, Ky. living near Prestonburgh. Most of the Kentucky marriages of this family took place at Prestonburgh. Absalom and Archie went to Texas, Absalom probably going directly from Kentucky and Archie from Indiana. At least, we know that Archie was known to granchildren of Archibald in Indiana, while Absalom was not. Jesse lived in Indiana and probably went to Texas after 1850. Archie went in 1836 and was in the Texas army during the Mexican war. He was alive in 1875 aged 75 years. He had his cheekbone shot off in action. The rest of the family moved to Indiana, beginning with James in 1826 and ending with Ezekiel in 1831. Jesse Gibson married Molly Johnson 3-9-1828. A later deed gives her name as Mary. They sold out their land in 1853, and there is no further record of them at Danville, Ind.

Zachariah Gibson was known to have had a tanyard (the first) in Jamestown. Nothing else is known about him except that he owned land in Perry County, Ky. James and William Gibson, sons of Archibald, settled just outside Jamestown. James was married 11-18-1819 by Stephen Harper at Prestonburgh, KY. The name of his wife was not recorded, but land records show her as "Sally". William was probably a younger son and very likely the same that married Davisa (prob.Louisa) Pritchett in Hendricks Co. Ind. 7-16-1831. Due to the use of pet and nicknames, there is frequent confusion as the wife of William appears in a later deed as Arcada.

Rachel Gibson, a daughter of Archibald, married Absalom Dent in Hendricks County 1-26-1830. Absalom was one of the appraisors of the estate of Ezekiel Gibson, his brother-in-law who died in Clinton County, Indiana, and bought land from his father-in-law Archibald Gibson 3-1-1838 in Hendricks County. Elizabeth Gibson, another daughter of Archibald, married a cousin named Joseph, Josephus or Josiah Gibson at Jamestown, Indiana. This marriage record has not been found, but descendants of this couple are known (by the writer). Elizabeth was the last survivor of her generation and lived at Jamestown until 1895. She was said to have been so large that she went sideways thru a door and had an especially large chair built for her use. There was only one chld by this marriage, William B. Gibson, born 1831, d. 1-26-1897 at Jamestown. He was a member of the 51st Ind.Vol. and married Hester L. Tipton and had John T. (d.inf), Emma Maude (b.1875; d.1881) and Jonathan E. (b.2-11-1862). Jonathan married Lula E. Corbin 10-27-1887 and lived in 1930 at Indianapolis, Indiana. He had Vane G., Helen II, Chester L., William L., Dorothy M. and Katherine. Hester, wife of William B., died in 1875, and he remarried to Nora Murphy and had Will C. and Myrle W.

Because he is mentioned as one of the founders of Jamestown, Indiana, John R.

Gibson is probably the best known of Archibald's sons. One of the histories of Boone County tells of the marriage of John R. in Kentucky. It is said that his wife, Elizabeth Hopper was emigrating across the mountains to Kentucky and met John Gibson on the way and was married. The marriage records of Floyd County Kentucky do not show the marriage of John Gibson and Elizabeth Hopper, but there is a record of the marriage of John Gibson to Betsey Harper, 6-2-1818. She was said to have been sixteen years old when she came across, so that we must assume that she had lived some time in Kentucky before her marriage. She was born 6-9-1800.

The carelessness of pronunciation and the ignorance and illiteracy of these pioneers caused many mistakes, and we feel safe in assuming that the Betsy Harper who married John Gibson 6-2-1818 was Elizabeth Hopper. We know nothing of her father (possibly Sephen "Harper" of Floyd Co.KY). Her mother Anna Hopper died at Jamestown, IN 3-23-1838, aged 76 yrs. She is buried in the old cemetery back of the cannery. The Hoppers are said to have come from N.C.

John R. Gibson was married twice. His first wife, Elizabeth died at Jamestown 9-9-1846, aged 46 years and 3 months. John R. was born in 1796 and died 1-13-1872, aged 76 years. The name of the second wife is unknown and this marriage is not known to have resulted in issue. The known children are the offspring of John R. Gibson and Elizabeth Hopper. Family records indicate that the children left home early, because of the treatment received from the step=mother. The children were Francis Marion, Matthew, Tempa and George Washington.

Francis Marion Gibson was born at Jamestown, Indiana, 3-25-1834 and died 5-26-1920 at Belleflower, ILL. He married Mary Jane Williams of Jefferson City, MO, 9-12-1854 (She was born 1-20-1835; died 9-1921) Their children were Dr. Joseph (m. Nellie Morland), James, William, John D. (m. Lydia Bauchman), Elizabeth (m. George Scarbaugh), Dr. Harvey (Henry?) Clay (m. Anna Donohue), Francis Marion, Dr. Archibald (m. Josephine Schull), Daisy Ann (m. Frank Miller) and Lenora May (m. Marcus West).

Follwing is the available information of the descendants of Francis M. Gibson. Dr. Joesph died in Utica, MO. in 1904. Archie Gibson, 2nd Lt. 13th Cavalry who died in 1881 was probably a son of Joseph. Joseph's widow and a daughter Grace lived in 1930 in Sebastopol, Calif. James Gibson d. inf. John D. Gibson had a son, Frank, who lived in 1930 with his son at 701 West VanBuren St., Chicago. William Gibson died at Belleflower, Ill., unmarried in 1897, aged 31. Elizabeth lives at Vanduser, MO. and has a daughter Fern who married Lester Woodward and another daughter Flossie who married Charles Sullivan of St. Louis, MO. Francis Marion (Jr) married Clara Buckles and lived at Belleflower, ILL. He died in 1921, age 53. Harry C. lived in Donohoe and was a physician practising later at Chadron, Neb. A son Lester survives him at Chadron. Archibald T. is a practising physician at Morrisonville, Ill. Daisy Ann lives at Rockville, IN. She has a son Archie, living at home and a daughter Hazel, who married George Ehler of Rockville. Lenora May (b. 10-1-1879) married Marcus West 1-18-1899. They are now retired and live at LeRoy, ILL. They have a daughter Faye who married Dale Vandeventer and have one son, Herbert. Another daughter married Everett Bailey and has one son, Joe. They also have a son Lawrence West who married Germain Allard at Lievin, Pas de Calais, France, and who has one daughter and lives at Pontiac, Ill. He is a transport airplane pilot.

We know very little of Matthew Gibson except that he lived most of his life at Belleflower, Ill. Tempa Gibson married William Bradbury. They both died about 1920. A son Ed S. Bradbury still survives at Belleflower, Ill. They also had a daughter who married N.B. Carson of Bloomington, ILL. After her death, he remarried a daughter of Matthew Gibson.

George Washington Gibson, a son of John R., was born in Kentucky 12-30-1823 and died at Jamestown, IN 5-8-1894. He married Mary Jane McLean 8-20-1851. He had a daughter Effie who was a school teacher and died in 1891 unmarried. There was a son Frank G. who died as an infant. There was a daughter Malvina, who married (1) McBroom and (2) S.A. Andrews. In 1930, Mrs. W.H. O'Rear and Mrs. L.T. Davis, daughters of Malvina lived at Lebanon, IN. George W. Gibson was in the Mexican War.

John R. Gibson had a son James b. 1831 and died 1861, presumably unmarried.

Ezekiel Gibson, son of Archibald Gibson was probably born in N.Carolina before 1800. He probably went with his parents to....

The marriage records shows his marriage to Jenny Johnson at Prestonburgh, KY 5-30-1819. She was afterwards known as Lucinda and Jane. There is no record of his ownership of land in Kentucky. He bought land in Hendricks County, Indiana 8-17-1831, and he was apparently the last of the sons of Archibald to come to Indiana.

The movement of this family to Hendricks County and later to Clinton County, Indiana is definitely connected with the Kirk family. Nathan Kirk was an early immigrant to Hendricks County where he was an associate judge. He afterward moved to Clinton County and set up a store and an inn at Kirk's Cross Roads, now known as Kirklin, Indiana. Kirk was also an associate judge in Clinton County.

Kirk's settlement of Clinton County undoubtedly had much to do with the going of Ezekiel. He sold his land in Hendricks County 11-7-1835 and bought land near Kirklin 11-13-1835. The farm he purchased was S.E. Qrt. Sec. 10, Twp. 20, Range 1 E. He paid $250. This farm lies between Kirklin and Frankfort, a few miles from Kirklin where Sugar Creek crosses the highway. The location of the house is not known, but is said to have been near the road that follows the creek. Ezekiel died in the latter part of January 1837 and is said to have been buried on his own farm. The records of his estate show that guardians were appointed for minor children named William, Rachel, Sarah (Ellen) and Samuel Preston. A son Allen was known to have been of age in 1845. The estate was settled in May 1838, and a guardian appointed for the minor children. In 1846, Peter B. Kennedy was appointed as guardian in place of the 1st guardian, who had moved to Kentucky. The guardian was finally discharged 6-12-1851 by order of the court when all of the children were of age except Samuel and William who had been "bound out" to Nathan Kirk. We have only one birthdate for this family. Samuel Preston Gibson was born 8-31-1831, probably at Jamestown, Indiana. With the exception of William, the rest of the family was thought to have been born before that date, probably in Kentucky.

Allen Gibson, son of Ezekiel, was probably born between 1820 and 1825. He was probably bound out to Nathan Kirk, although there is no record. He was of age when a guardian was appointed for his brothers and sisters in 1846 and bought land from Hiram Wells in Clinton County in 1843. This probably marks the date of his coming of age, which would set his birth about 1822. He was killed in a logging accident in the early summer of 1845. It is said that a dog frightened the horses drawing a log wagon, and a log fell on Allen, and he was killed. His mother received a small amount of cash from his estate, and Nancy Gibson who married Hiram Wells also received some cash. This leads us to believe that Ezekiel Gibson had a daughter Nancy who married Hiram Wells in Clinton County 9-22-1842 and who was probably born about 1820.

Ezekiel Gibson probably had a son Calvin, who was married to Elizabeth C. Elmore in Clinton County 6-16-1853. There is an old story in the family that a grown son of Ezekiel choked to death. Present descendants never heard of Calvin or his family, but Catherine Gibson (more later) named a son Calvin after someone.

Rachel Gibson, daughter of Ezekiel, was born about 1827 probably in Kentucky. She married Moses Rector and lived near Lebanon, Indiana; and had Howard and Allen and two daughters, one of whom married Kirk Goff and also lived near Lebanon.

Sarah Ellen Gibson (known as Ellen) was born about 1829 probably in Kentucky. She married William H. Reynolds 7-30-1849 and is known to have had a son Al and probably a daughter named Nancy who is said to have been adopted by a man in Kirklin named Col. Bickley.

William Gibson, a son of Ezekiel, and probably the youngest child, enlisted during the Civil War and was never heard from again. He was not married at the time of his enlistment.

Samuel Preston Gibson, of whom we know the most, was one of those of this family who changed the spelling of his name; and, since he is the only male descendant of his father, represents the only branch known to have the spelling G-I-P-S-O-N. It has been explained that thru some mistake in a government deed, the name was spelled with a "p"; and the family changed the spelling in order to avoid difficulties with the title to certain land.

Samuel Preston Gibson was born probably in Hendricks County, Indiana, 8-31-1831. He was probably born at the home of an Uncle or a grandfather, because the family was at that time moving to Indiana. His father Ezekiel moved to Clinton County in 1835, and Samuel Preston was said to have ridden on a horse with his father the entire distance. Upon the dath of his father, he was placed in the care of a guardian (exact date unknown) and a second guardian was appointed in 1846. When quite young, he was "bound out" (apprenticed) to Nathan Kirk by whom he was probably raised. Samuel Preston was grandfather to the writer who remembers him as of medium height, swarthy with straight hair and beard. He married 12-23-1858 to Mary C. Nicholson. She was the daughter of Capt. William Nicholson and Elisa Ann Ferguson who had lived near Pendleton, Indiana. William Nicholson was the son of William Nicholson and Sarah Elizabeth Cook, who came from N.Carolina to Ohio about 1800. Elisa Ann Ferguson was the daughter of Hugh Ferguson and Eliabeth Guthrie. Elizabeth with her mother and another sister emigrated to American about 1785 from Scotland. Hugh Ferguson was her cousin; and her mother did not approve of the match; and came to America to separate the lovers. Hugh stowed away on the same ship, however, and when out of sight of land was discovered. The marriage of the pair took place at sea, the ceremony being performed by the Captain.

The children of Samuel and Mary Gipson were Dora Belle, Rosa May, Milo Sellers, Eva Lorena, Abraham H., Robert William, Samuel Walter, and Daisy D. This family lived for the most part of their childhood on a farm west of Kirklin about one-half mile. The old house still stands, the first on the right hand side of the road after leaving Kirklin for Frankfort. A part of the apple orchard set out by Samuel P. and his sons still bears. Mary, wife of Samuel P., died 8-29-1881. Samuel P. died 6-20-1891 and is buried with his wife in a cemetary north of ~~Kirlin~~ Kirklin about three miles. The burial ground lies on a side road to the east of Michigan Road.

There has been much speculation concerning two or probably three children born to Lucinda Jane Gibson after the death of her husband in 1837. Louisa Catherine Gipson was born 7-22-1839 and died at Kentalnd, Indiana 8-16-1912. He married Moses Brees and had a large family. Although she bore the name of Gibson, she was not the descendant of Ezekiel Gibson. George Washington Gipson thought to have been a son of Ezekiel was born 9-26-1842 at Kirklin, Indiana, more than five years after Ezekiel's death. The parentage of these two will always remain a mystery. Some of the descendants of Louisa Catherine say that Lucinda Jane remarried Hiram Wells. Hiram Wells married a Nancy Gibson, thought to have been a daughter of Ezekiel. Both Nancy and Lucinda Jane received money from the estate of Allen Gibson, and at that time Nancy was married to Hiram Wells. There was a Jack Wells who was probably Andrew J. Wells' father. He was known as a step-father by Louisa Catherine. There is no legal record of the marriage, although I find in my notes that Lucinda Gibson married Andrew J. Wells 10-6-1844. Lucinda Jane was known as "Gibson" in 1845.

During the period 1880-1890, there was persistent talk in and about Kirklin regarding the Indian parentage of children of Ezekiel Gibson. It seems assured that Ezekiel was a full blooded white man. We know practically nothing about the parentage of Lucinda Jane or her marriages after Ezekiel's death. There is an old story of an attempt of Indians to coax George W. Gipson away from home. There is also an old story of an Indian, or man of Indian blood, who lived as a hermit or recluse near an old stave factory near the farm of Samuel P. Gipson. None of these stories have been substantiated; and they are given here for the use of future searchers who may care to trace the ancestry of George Washington and Louisa Catherine. It should be borne in mind that the events recorded were in pioneer times, and the people were not accustomed to rigid laws, frquently resenting even the simplest governmental functions. Common law marriages were common, marriage without license was common with ministers officiating; and quite often marriages were solemnized between duly licensed persons by duly authorized person and the marriages never recorded. At the time of the death of Ezekiel Gibson, the district around Kirlin was a wilderness. There were no towns of any consequence aside from Frankfort, the county seat. There were no churches, and Nathan Kirk was the only person near Kirklin who knew any law.

To one who has known the generations of Samuel Preston Gipson and his children, it appears that all members of this family have some of the physical characteristics of the American Indian; and it is believed that one may probably hope to find that Lucinda Jane Johnson was one of the children of a white man and Indian wife in Kentucky. The period 1790-1800 was a chaotic one in Kentucky. Many men came as soldiers and stayed to live on farms. There were many marriages between men and Indians.

Of the descendants of Samuel Preston Gipson, we have a very complete record.

Dora Belle Gipson, b. 11-30-1859 at Kirklin, Indian, is still living at DesMoines, Iowa in 1932. She married Victor Augustus Haynes 6-3-1878. Another Dora Gibson of Clinton Co., Indiana, married a man named Snodgrass about the same tiem. We do not know who she was. The children of Dora Belle and Victor A. Haynes were Charles Herman, Harry W. and Evalena Alice. Harry W. b.3-3-1881, d.at Des Moines 3-8-1903. Charles Herman, b. 6-10-1879 at Kirklin, Indiana, m. Belle ___ 11-23-1904 and lives at 1630 Lyon Street, Des Moines, Ia. They have a son Willard Rosemon, b. 5-12-1909.

Desc. from Ezekiel - Brother of Archibald,

January 23, 1993

Dear Marian,

Thought I'd write to see if there is anything new regarding the search for Archibald and Ezekiel Gibson's ancestors. I've been unable to find anything really new other than a possible theory for where James Gibson (possible grandfather of Arch and Ezek), came from. I found a James Gibson listed in the 12 June 1735 tax lists of Perquimans precinct, NC as having 100 acres, 1 L, 15 shillings (Colonial State Records of NC, vol.22, pg.252). This is about 11 years prior to him settling in old Lunenberg county. This theory is based on the fact that our Gibsons are related in some way to Shepherd Gibson, co-founder of what became known as the Melungeon popualtion center on Newman's Ridge in Hancock Co. (formerly Hawkins Co.) TN. These Melungeons were supposedly part Portugese, part Cherkoee. The classic physical description of these people is that they were dark-skinned, in either olive or coppery tint, with straight coal-black hair, eyes ranging from black to gray, high cheekbones suggesting Indian ancestry, but with the thin lips and narrow fine-featured faces of European or Oriental cast. I don't know what Archibald's decendants look like but Ezekiel's, meaning my grandfather, his brothers, and many of the other Gibson cousins I have known, fit the description I have stated. My mother to some extent has a "Spanish" look. I found an anthropology student's doctoral thesis on the Melungeons at the University of Kentucky library and in it is some of the genealogy of Shepherd Gibson and his sister Margaret "Spanish Peggy" Gibson, as she was called. (I have enclosed a copy of this portion of the thesis) It states that Shepard and Margaret's father was a John Gibson of Currituck Co. NC, (this borders Perquimans Co., NC),that John was the son of Henry Gibson also of Currituck Co. who appears on the 1715 tax list for the county.(Is it possible that James could be part of this family?) It is also reported that "the Gibsons were supposed to have been engaged in piracy off the Atlantic Coast". A couple of other more recent things that tend to bloster my theory are a vacation to the Bahamas that my parents took a couple of years ago. As my mother was going thru customs, she said the agent stopped her and asked if she was originally from the Bahamas. He stated that Gibson was a Bahamian name.

Is it not conceivable that the Gibsons along the coast of NC could have come from or frequented the Bahamas Islands, especially if they were decendants of Portugese sailors and were engaged in piracy up and down the coast? The other thing is that my mother has some gray eyelashes. While visiting a doctors office once she said the doctor remarked that it was unusual to see white eyelashes. He explained that this trait is common to oriental or polynesian people.

Well, you may think this theory is a bit far-fetched but with what I know from first hand knowledge of my Gibson relatives, the things I have found in my research, what my mother has told me, and now your research gives a clue to some places, names and dates that help tie things together, this has a possiblity of making sense. I would be really interested in your feelings on this, whether you think it is far-fetched or maybe has some possibility. Of all the GIbson researchers I have recieved information from, you seem to have made the most progress thru the generations and I would value your interpertation of this theory. Could we be the decendants of Portugese pirates? If not, wouldn't this make a great mini-series!

I am enclosing the Gibson information that I have (can't remember if I sent you this before, if I did excuse the duplication) guessing that you are interested in any Gibson material that you can get. I, in turn, would like to add as many Gibson names to my data base as possible and would appreciate anything you care to share on the decendants of Archibald Gibson, brother of my 4th great-grandfather Ezekiel Gibson.

Sincerely, Your 5th cousin,

Fred Reed

"pure Malungeons" and the "Blackwaterites," or those contaminated by intermarrying with Blacks. She implies the distinction was insisted upon by the "pure Malungeons." Noting the fourth or Portuguese branch to have long been a riddle and denied by the local Whites, she matter-of-factly records, "It has at last, however, been traced to one Denham, a Portuguese who married a Collins woman" (p. 749).

Around the same time, the Department of the Interior was compiling a special report, Indians Taxed and Not Taxed (1894), drawn from the 1890 census. An attempt was made to gather additional information on remnant Indian groups. The people of Vardy were included in the report as presumed Melungeons and were described as remnants of the Eastern Cherokee.

The report begins by stating "the Melungeons claim to be Cherokee of mixed blood (White, Indian, and Negro)" (p. 594). From this statement follows a rendition of a similar genealogical scheme described in Humble and Dromgoole. Continuing from alleged local informants, the Indian blood is traced to two Cherokee Indians known as Collins and Gibson, who reportedly settled in the moutains of East Tennessee in approximately 1796. The White blood is accounted for through two sources, English and Portuguese stock, the English originating with the familiar Jim Mullins. In this version, he is described as an Indian trader who eventually took up residence in the Collins and Gibson settlement. The Portuguese stock is said to derive from a man named Denham, supposedly a sailor put ashore on the coast of North Carolina for being troublesome to the captain of a private "pure Malungeons" and the "Blackwaterites," or those contaminated by intermarrying with Blacks. From this statement follows a rendition of a similar genealogical scheme described in Humble and Dromgoole. Continuing from alleged local informants, the Indian blood is traced to two Cherokee Indians known as Collins and Gibson, who reportedly settled in the mountains of East Tennessee in approximately 1796. The white blood is accounted for through two sources, English and Portuguese stock, the English originating with the family of Mullins. In this version, he is described as an Indian trader who eventually took up residence in the Collins and Gibson settlement. The Portuguese stock is said to derive from a man named Denham, supposedly a sailor put ashore on the coast of North Carolina for being troublesome to the captain of a private vessel. The Negro element is attributed to a Goins, speculated by the author to be a runaway slave who joined Collins and Gibson sometime after their settlement in East Tennessee.

There are several researchable leads that can be drawn from the community history. As it is essentially family history, or genealogy, surnames are a point of departure from the assumption that Melungeon origin is indeterminate. Constructing genealogies to begin chipping away at Melungeon origin is a simple, though critical first step toward separating mythical content from historically verifiable data. For example, William Grohse has contributed a substantial ground work for future research by working through several genealogies for early settling families in Hancock County, especially in Vardy community. Through his work (Grohse Papers), Vardiman Collins and Shephard Gibson take shape as real characters who were among the earliest settlers in the Newman's Ridge area. From North Carolina, Vardiman or Vardy Collins was probably a half-breed Indian (though some sources describe him as full-blooded) who married Margaret (Peggy) Gibson from Virginia. Known as "Spanish Peggy," she was, in some uncertain degree, of Spanish origin. She was a sister to Shephard Gibson, who accompanied Vardy Collins in the settlement of Newman's Ridge. When immigrating into Tennessee, probably in the late 1700s, Grohse estimates they settled all the land from the Virginia state line to Mulberry Gap, between Newman's Ridge and Powell's Mountain.

Vardiman was the son of Navarrh H. (Henry) Collins, who was born in Virginia in approximately 1699. Henry, in turn, was the son of Henry Collins, an indentured servant of Thomas Wood. "Spanish Peggy" was the daughter of John Gibson of Currituck County, North Carolina. John, in turn, was the son of Henry Gibson, also of Currituck County who appears on a 1715 tax list for the county. Grohse reports "the Gibsons were supposed to have been engaged in piracy off the Atlantic Coast." These fragments from the Grohse work illustrate the importance of genealogy to an authentic community history, though the recording and synthesis of this kind of information goes wanting. Minimally, genealogical construction would correct the assumption of indeterminate origin for the presumed Melungeons. In its absence, the assumption continues, the explanatory model remains viable, and the myths are perpetuated.

Considering the second observation, the paucity of census and public records research, the work of Edward Price on mixed-breed populations is a solitary exception (1950). The people of Vardy (1951) were included as presumed Melungeons among the mixed-breed groups for which Price consulted census and other public records in abstracting generalizations about tri-racial mixture (1953). Most of his conclusions are relevant to the larger mixed-breed population across the American Southeast and do not illuminate specifically Melungeon history. He was successful, however, in constructing a general historical scenario for the presumed Melungeon population,

Dear Mark – Thank you for writing. I can add quite a bit to what you have sent me. It will take me a while to get it all together for you. We live in Venice, FL: for 8 months of the year, and Indianapolis, IN the rest of the year (summers.) It always happens that what I need most is in the other home!

Ezekiel's parents were Archibald and Vashti (Cole) Gibson. Her father was Levi Cole. They are buried in Jamestown, IN. They both died in 1885; but there is some confusion about their ages at death. I have visited their graves several times; and will explain more about this later. (Arch's LWT names his children.)

Children of Archibald and Vashti: John, b. 1793; James, b. c. 1794; Ezekiel,a b. c. 1795; Jesse, b.c. 1797; Archie Jr.. b. 1799; Elizabeth, b. 1805; William, b. c.1800; Nancy, b.c.1803; and Rachel (who m. Absolam Dent) b. c. 1810. — I will eventually send you more about all of these people, if you want it.

Ezekiel and Lucinda Jane (Johnson) Gipson - family

Nancy, b. c 1819 m. Hiram Wells
Allen who d. in as logging accident 1826
Rachel – your Rachel
Sarah Ellen, m. William H. Reynolds, b. 1813 Ky
Samuel Preston Gipson - my gr. grandfather, m. Mary Nicholson, parents of my grandmother Eva Lorena Gipson William Gibson, who disappeared in the Civil War.

I understand that at some point in the Gibson family some record mis-spelled the name as Gipson, and the family was afraid they would lose the land =and therefore went along with the mis-spelling!

This is very sketchy. My uncle (mother's brother) did extensive research back in the 1920's, 1930's etc. I confirmed alot of his stuff through cemetaries, deeds etc. etc.

Lucinda Jane was an interesting person. Ezekiel died fairly young (1837 – is buried on farm lqnd somewhere near Kirlklin. Never found the grave.) Lucinda then had a relationship with an Indian gentleman who fathered two children by her, with the last names Gibson. I have seen their graves. The family story is that when the Indians in that part of the state decided to move west, Samuel (my great grandfather) gave his half brother (George W. Gibson) land to keep him in the area. I never found proof of that. Lucinda later married the brother of her son-in-law –?- Wells. She was probably 10 yrs older than he, but lied in the census about her age. ...This kind of stuff is more interesting than the vital statistics!

These Gibsons were descended from a group of people known now as Melungeons. Their ethnic/ cultural/ national background was out of the Ottoman Empire – Turkish, Moorish, Portuguese, Spanish, American Indian....supposedly brought to the new world by the Spanish to build fortifications along the Atlantic coast. There is a story about their arrival on the N.C. coast which I can't recall right now; but the gist of it was that they caused trouble on a ship and were dumped on the shores where they married Indians and life went on! (I think the Indians were Cherokees.) Some of them were dark skinned and others light. They were Christian and educated. They called themselves "Portyguese". The lighter skinned of these people (which our line appears to have been) moved away to KY and blended in with the white settlers. I have books and historical articles to support this.

I am very proud of this part of my heritage – otherwise I am white, Anglo-Saxon, Protestant. I am 77 years old. I will be in touch later with more info for you. But enough for tonight. I had very little info on your Rachel, so I appreciate your writing. I would be interested in the contents of the documents you have.

Dear Mrs. Porter:

My name is Malcolm Light and I am a descendant of Archibald Gibson and Bathsheba "Vashti" Cole who spent the last part of their lives in Hendrix, Boone county, Indiana. My great grandmother was Sarah Ann Eliza Gibson and her line continues with Thomas Jefferson Gibson, James Gibson, and Archibald Gibson.

The late Jules Ray Gipson and I are distant cousins and we discussed our common Gibson ancestors on several occasions before he passed away in December 2002.

I have been seeking the origin of our Gibson family for quite sometime and have discussed it with Jules. We considered the possibility that we may be of melungeon descent and possibly have connections to the Gibson's of Wilkes and Ashe counties, North Carolina. Jules told me that you were doing some research along those lines and provided me with your address.

I have been wondering if your research has led you to any firm conclusions regarding the parentage of Archibald Gibson and/or the origin of our Gibson family.

I still work on my Gibson line as well as other family surnames as time permits but have not been able to get any further back than North Carolina with our Gibson ancestors.

I would be delighted to hear from you.

Regards,

Malcolm Light

Marian,

In the back of my mind, I was always thinking you were getting things together for me, so I wasn't giving up on you. Take your time.

I am eager to see the information you are sending. I just finished reading through and copying information from Annals of Floyd County KY by Charles Wells that I had out on interlibrary loan, and now I have Life and Times in Boone County IN out on loan. A lot of pertinent information is in both books.

In some of your early work (I think it was yours) you mentioned a few legends that came down through the generations.

1.) Three of John Gibson's children moved away to Bellflower IL because John's second wife Mariah was so mean to them. Could you elaborate on that? I descend from John's son Madison "Matthew," and he did move to Bellflower where my grandfather was born.

2.) Elizabeth Gibson (Archibald's daughter?) was so large she had to walk sideways through doors and she had a special chair made for her large size. Could you elaborate on that? Was she Archibald's daughter?

Did your uncle (b. 1885) tell you these interesting stories?

Are you doing any more research on the Gibson line, or are you more or less finished and have everything in storage?

You all come on down. The purple Mustang is available. It is a little tired, having over 100,000 miles, and ten years on it. I doubt it has had the easiest of life. Manual shift GT convertibles generally aren't owned by little old ladies. As far as I have discovered everything works on it, which is kinda a supprise, since it has every gadget on it that the owners manual mentions. In addition to being the GT model, it is a SVT, which Jim Padgett tells me is a special factory hop up model. I have no idea as to its horse power.The good news is that the insurance agent hasn't called back to say they won't insure it yet.

You guys have fun, and don't work too hard. Grandpa

PEH surmised that Joseph was a cousin. I think it is possible that he was a son of Zachariah probable brother of Archibald Gibson.)

Sources of Information and Other Notes: Family records compiled in the 1920's by my uncle Pierre E. Haynes (PEH) (b. 1885; d. 1950.) Some of the Gibson/ Gipson information came to him from other family members, quoting Samuel Preston Gipson, Archibald's grandson, who said that Vashti was of "French descent."

Also all the usual public records–VA; NC, KY, IN census, tax records, deeds, court records, marriage records, histories, etc.

The ages of Archibald and Vashti in the census and on their gravestone are inconsistent. I finally averaged out the possibilities!

The list of their children came from PEH and has been more or less confirmed by other descendants of theirs. Now confirmed by the lwt of Archibald.

Archibald owned land on Cranberry Creek, Wilkes (Ashe) Co. NC–50 acres 1793. In Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC census 1790 and 1800; being classified as free persons of color in 1800. In Floyd Co. KY census 1810, 1820; Hendricks Co. IN census 1830, 1840, 1850. PEH also named Absolom, Jordon and Joel also as possible sons of Archibald and Vashti–but I found no evidence–even circumstantial–that they belonged in this family. Joel was the son of Ezekiel, the presumed brother of Arch.

An Ezekiel Gibson who married Rachel — appears to have been a brother of Archibald's. He died Floyd Co. KY before 1842, leaving heirs named in a couple of land records. He appeared in the census: Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC 1790 and 1800 (also as free persons of color) and in Floyd Co. KY 1820.

Zachariah Gibson is also listed in Ashe/Wilkes Co. NC records as well as Floyd Co. KY records. My uncle says he started the first tan yard in Jamestown; but I have never found any record of this. He was listed as one of 4 free persons of color in Floyd Co. 1820 census, living with a white female and 1 white male under 10.

A descendant of a Martin Gibson, who is related somehow, says that Archibald and Vashti lived for a time in Madison Co. KY with brother Ezekiel and Vashti's father Levin Cole c. 1797-1810. It appears that there was some traveling back and forth between KY and NC between c. 1797 and c.1820. My uncle said that John Gibson, Archibald's son, met his wife Elizabeth (Betsy) Hopper during one trip across the mountains. Elizabeth made the trip barefoot! She is in the census 1850 and 1880

Martin Gibson died before 1840 in Perry Co. KY and his widow moved back to her family in Tazewell Co. VA. -

Archibald Jr. was a noted fighter of both Indians and Mexicans; and lost an eye in the Mexican war. He is in the census Gonzales, TX 1830.

James, son of Archibald and Vashti, had two wives.(?) –May have been two James! He may have had them both at the same time–one in IN and one in TX - in the 1830 census, it looks as though he may have been counted twice; it's possible that one

Endnotes

Archibald and Vashti's ages are quite inconsistent in the census. Their birth dates are estimated. Archibald's LWT names all nine of the above children. They lived in Ashe Co .NC 1790 and 1800; but were also on tax lists in KY as early as 1794; were in 1810, 1820 KY Floyd Co. Census; in Hendricks Co. IN 1830, 1840, 1850. They are buried Jamestown IN

There were several Gibsons in Ashe Co. NC who appeared to be closely related...Archibald, Ezekiel and Zachariah, as well as Joel, Thomas and others. In the 1800 census Archibald, Ezekiel, Joel and Andrew were all counted as free persons of color. In addition, Zachariah was counted as a free person of color in Floyd Co. KY in 1820 - with a white wife and child under 10. (This Ezekiel is an older man — not Ezekiel the son of Archibald and Vashti.)

PEH said John was in KY 12 years. (Don't know how that can be.) James appears to be in both Hendricks Co. IN 1830 and Gonzales TX 1830. Has three females under 10 in IN.

Nancy's marriage bond signed by Archibald in KY

Archie Jr. was a noted Indian fighter in Texas. William may have been in Indiana as early as 1828. Elizabeth was a very large woman, known as Big Toe Bet. PEH reported that a special chair was made for her to sit in and she had to turn sideways to get through a door.

By way of demonstrating how difficult it is to figure Gibson ages from the census, Elizabeth reported that she was 30 years old in 1850. My great great grandmother Lucinda Jane also shaved 15 years off her age in 1850 and was married to her son-in-law's brother. I rather think in the case of Vashti and Archibald, they simply didn't bother to keep count. In 1810, Arch claimed to be under 45 and Vashti claimed to be under 26.

Two females in the Floyd Co. KY marriage records were thought to have been daughters of Archibald — Charity and Sally. Archibald signed Charity's marriage bond; which suggests that she was related somehow. She married William Branham 1816.
Sally Gibson was married 1828 — perhaps to a Henry Pratt; and may also have been related through the elder Ezekiel.

E - DAN MARTIN, b. July 20, 1788, was the youngest child of John and Eunice (Jennison) Martin. He lived on a farm near Warsaw, N. Y., until 1836 when he moved with his family to Elk Creek Township, Erie County, Penn'a. He belonged to the Methodist Episcopal Church and believed in the strict observance of the Sabbath. He was a man of strong character and integrity, raised a large family, and was respected by all who knew him. He died in Jan. 1871.

On Dec. 19, 1813, he m. Polly Jenison, b. at Charlton, Mass., Oct. 13, 1795, the third child of Peter Jenison (1771-1849) and Elizabeth (Snow) Jenison (1769-1861). Her picture and one of her parents appear elsewhere in this book. Her father's family has been traced directly to the Puritans. A brief outline of the * Jennison or Jenison family in America is as follows:

Robert Jennison, b. in 1607 at Colchester, England, came to America with the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1630 in the same ship, the Arabella, with John Winthrop, to seek liberty of conscience. He settled first at Charlestown, Mass. and removed to Watertown in 1636. He was admitted Freeman in May, 1645. His will dated Apr. 21, 1689 and proved Oct. 27, 1690, mentions his daughter, Micael Warren, son-in-law George Reed, and grandsons, William and Robert Jennison.

Ensign Samuel Jennison, only son of Robert and Grace Jennison, was born at Watertown, Mass., in 1645. He married Judith Macomber, Oct. 30, 1666. He was town clerk of Watertown in 1691. He had ten children and died in 1701.

Robert Jennison, the ninth child and youngest son of Ensign Samuel Jennison, was born July 24, 1684 at Watertown, Mass. He married Dorothy (Thomas) Whittemore (b. in 1690). He died at Sutton, Mass., in 1779. He came from Watertown to Sutton about 1727 and afterwards moved to Prospect Hill, Auburn, with his son, Joseph, whose sons, Daniel and Peter, were soldiers in the Revolutionary War. This farm on the hill was owned by the family for seven generations or until 1894. A picture of this house is shown on another page.

Their first child, Joseph, b. Dec. 6, 1720, at Cambridge, Mass., married Martha Twist at Salem, Mass., in 1745. (She was b. in 1719 and died in July 1806.) He had four children. He died at Auburn, Mass., Jan. 11, 1818.

Peter Jenison, third child and oldest son of Joseph and Martha (Twist) Jennison, b. Jan. 5, 1750, at Sutton, Mass. married Mehitable Singletary. She was the dau. of Amos and Mary (Curtis) Singletary. Amos Singletary was a member of the First Continental Congress. He was the first male white child born in Sutton, Mass. Peter Jenison subscribed two pounds toward the building of the first meeting house in Oxford, Mass. in 1770. He afterwards moved to Ontario County, N. Y., where he died, in 1818. He responded to the Lexington Alarm and served in the Revolutionary War in Captain John Crowl's company. His official record, on file at the office of the Secretary of the State of Massachusetts, is as follows:

"Peter Jenison - Appears with rank of Private on Lexington Alarm. Roll of Capt. John Crowl's co., Col. Learned's reg't., which marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775. Length of service, 9 days. Company reported as belonging to New Parish taken off from Leicester, Worcester, Sutton, and Oxford (later named Ward). Vol. 12, page 28.

Peter Jenison, second child and oldest son of Peter and Mehitable (Singletary) Jenison, was b. at Oxford, Mass., Mar. 27, 1771. On Feb. 4, 1790, he m. Elizabeth Snow, b. Nov. 6, 1779, d. Apr. 4, 1861. He died at Gainesville, N. Y., Apr. 22, 1849. Their third child and second daughter was Polly Jenison.

JENISON (Jennison, Jennings. By the later generations always written Jennison).

There were two early settlers of Wat., of the name of JENISON, WILLIAM and ROBERT, who were brothers.

1 WILLIAM JENISON was one of those who first signified their desire, Oct. 19, 1630, to be admitted freemen, and he was adm. the next May. He usually had the prefix "Mr.;" was mem. of the Artillery Co., 1637; Captain of the train band, 1638; Selectman, 1635 to '42, and '44, and was Rep., 1637, to '42, and '45. He commanded one of the companies sent, in 1636, to avenge the murder of Mr. John Oldham, by the Pequod Indians, at Black Island. About 1645, he sold his homestead to Rev. John Knowles (who afterwards sold it to William Bond, Esq.), and not long after returned to England, where he probably d. It appears by Winthrop (I., 133), that he had been a resident of Bermuda. No notice has been discovered of either wife or children of Capt. Jenison. [For a view of his character and worth, see Winthrop II., 176.]

William Jenison

2 (I.) ROBERT JENISON was probably several years younger than his brother William. His name is not on the earliest list of proprietors (Feb. 1636–7), but he had a daughter b. in Wat., Ap., 1637, which is the earliest notice of him that I have discovered. He was adm. freeman, May, 1645. ~~His wife~~ ELIZABETH d. Oct. 30, 1638, aged 30, and he soon after m. GRACE ——, who d. Nov. 26, 1686, and he d. July 4, 1690. His Will, dated Sept. 15, 1688, with a codicil, dated Ap. 2, 1689, proved Oct. 7, 1690, mentions dr. Micael Warren, son-in-law George Reed, son Samuel, whom he calls his third son, and grandsons William and Robert Jenison. To his grandsons he gave land that formerly belonged to his brother William. Although he mentions Samuel as his third son, it is not probable that his first and second son survived him or left chil. 1688 1683

* A sheet was printed in Boston, in 1834, entitled "History of the Jones Family," accompanied genealogical tree, prepared by Mr. William H. Jones, Jr. [159–1], from a manuscript written years previously by Israel Jones, Esq., of Adams, Mass. From this sheet, only lately put into my I have received valuable additional information respecting some of the branches of this family however, very deficient in dates, &c., which greatly lessens its value. It is to be hoped that person or association, in this family, will take up this genealogy where it is now left, and make full and accurate as it ought to be; correcting all the errors and supplying all its defects, adding biographical sketches as any of the members are entitled to.

New York State in the Revolution and the Influence of the Iroquois on New York State History

A law recently passed by the New York State Legislature (effective, May 25, 1923) makes an appropriation of five thousand dollars for a preliminary survey and report by the New York State Historical Association for appropriate celebration of the 150th anniversary of important New York State events of the Revolutionary period. This report will cover, among other sections, the history of the Genesee Country.

In the Memorial presented to the Legislature, stating reasons for the passage of the above-mentioned act, interesting facts were set forth as to the part New York State played in the Revolution, and the influence of the Iroquois on our State history.

This Memorial was prepared by Mr. W. Pierrepont White, President of the Mohawk Valley Historic Association, and read, in part, as follows:

Iroquois Country.—New York State was the frontier of the Iroquois Country. The Iroquois, with the exception of the Oneidas and Tuscaroras, were, during the Revolution, the allies of Great Britain. From their 10,000,000 acres of limitless forests within the present bounds of New York, these Indians were led forth in pitiless expeditions, committing ghastly frontier horrors, which depopulated the homes of the settlers. These settlers were engaged annually in raising the grain which fed the army of Washington while at Newburg, Valley Forge, or in New Jersey. So near were West Point and Kingston on the Ulster County frontier that it was constantly guarded by regulars against the raiders from the forests.

Ninety-two Battlefields.—From 1775 to 1783, Long Island and the Champlain, Hudson, and Mohawk Valleys, furnished the battlefields for the 92 recorded conflicts that occurred in this State. Twenty-seven of these conflicts took place in 1777 and 21 in 1776. The entire eight-year period was one of continuous conflict for these valleys. Massachusetts had 11 conflicts in 1775, 3 in 1776, and none thereafter. Connecticut had a total of 14 engagements; Rhode Island and Pennsylvania, 5 conflicts each; New Jersey 31, Georgia 22, Virginia 16, while South Carolina had 79. New York furnished the greater number of battlefields for both the French and Indian War as well as the Revolution. These conflicts took place on Long Island, and the most of them were quite closely confined to the Mohawk, Champlain, and Hudson River Valley settlements, which were limited to a strip of land less than eight miles wide on the Mohawk, and not over thirty on the Hudson.

Limited Settled Area.—The reason of the very limited settled area within the present bounds of New York, was due to the supreme power exercised by the Iroquois, not only over their own possessions, constituting all of our present State territory except the battlefields of the Revolution above mentioned, but over vast areas of the west and south, occupied by tribes who paid them tribute.

Treaty of Tawasentha.—The treaty of Tawasentha in 1618, between the Dutch and Iroquois at Normans Kill near Albany, in effect permitted the Dutch to acquire land title from the Mohican and River tribes of Indians, who were subject tribes to the Iroquois. As time passed from this first Indian treaty as made by the Dutch, it was assumed by the English, and was ratified 39 times between 1618 and 1779, when General Sullivan's raid broke the strength of the Confederacy.

Dutch and Palatine Settlements.—It was twenty-five years after this treaty that the Indians permitted a settlement to be made at Schenectady, seventeen miles west of Fort Orange. Another eighteen years elapsed before Jelles Fonda was permitted to establish a store at Fonda, twenty-seven miles west of Schenectady. Earlier settlements on the river banks west of Fonda and on the Schoharie had been granted gradually to the Hollanders, which did not interfere with the Indian hunting-grounds in the rear of these grants. In 1722, on the invitation of the Mohawks, came the Palatine settlements at Stone Arabia, which, prior to the Revolution, grew westward to the present site of Deerfield, and provided families at the Fort Stanwix clearing in charge of the work on the carry.

Sir William Johnson.—In 1738 William Johnson, destined to become the controlling power on the North American continent, made his first settlement near Amsterdam. By his matrimonial alliances with Caroline, and on her death with Molly Brant—two women of the Mohawk tribe of the Iroquois, who in themselves and through their relatives were in the supreme power in tribal and Confederacy control—Sir William became the arbiter in North America of the Indian and the Colonial Indian policy of England, and directed these policies from his residence in its dominating valley of the Mohawk, 1738-1774. During this period, his unswerving fidelity to the rights of the Indians upheld the treaty of Tawasentha, except as changed by the treaty of Fort Stanwix in 1768 and grants made along the Mohawk River, some of which gave offense to the Indians.

Indians Confine Settlements for 179 Years.—These conditions from 1609 to 1788 held for 179 years our early settlements to Long Island, the Mohawk, Champlain, and Hudson River valleys, while the ancestral homes of the Iroquois occupy the balance of the present area of the State, and this occupation provides the chief reason why New York State's part in the Colonial and Revolutionary history is not better known.

Hugh White Leads New England Migration, Which Submerges New York State's Part in Revolution.—The instant the Revolution ceased, that great immigration from New England, headed by Hugh White, poured into the Iroquois lands, commencing at Whitestown, until by 1820 the population of the State had increased from the Revolutionary record of 190,000 to approximately 1,400,000, and 1,000,000 of this new increase were New Englanders, who, passing over the settlements in the Hudson and Mohawk, with its 179 years of bilingual history, proceeded as they should to print, talk and teach the war records of their own ancestors in Colonial and Revolutionary times.

Oldest Settlement in the Union.—The battlefields of New York, surrounded by forests and closely confined to her eastern borders, penetrated for 250 miles the principal commercial and military valleys on the eastern slope of the continent, and to-day have a background of from 200 to 300 years of occupancy and settlement, a condition existing at no other point on the North Atlantic sea front.

Albany (1617) next to Jamestown, Va., (1607) and St. Augustine, Fla., (1565), is the oldest settlement in the Union, if the thirteen Colonies only are included, and if Jamestown is thrown out, as deserted in 1676, it may perhaps be called the oldest with a continuous life, though its actual settlement (1623) as a residence is later than that of Plymouth (1620).

New York State's Immortal Contribution.—It is the history of this bilingual settlement decimated by eight years of savage warfare, whose principal men were killed, leaving their farms to be worked by widows and orphans, that is our State's immortal contribution to the building of our Nation.

New York State Map

The map of the state of New York appearing on the following page is adapted from Avery's History of the U. S. showing 13,000,000 acres of land belonging to the Six Nations in 1786, which New York and Massachusetts divided between themselves; forcing the greater part of the Indians to remove to Brantford, Ontario, Canada, to occupy lands granted them by England.

Ontario County was taken from Montgomery in 1789, and included all the land of which the pre-emptive right had been ceded to the State of Massachusetts, which that State afterwards sold to Phelps and Gorham, and which afterwards chiefly passed into the possession of the Holland Land Company and the Pulteney Estate. Ontario County then extended from the pre-emption line a mile east of Geneva, so as to include within its limits all the territory within the bounds of the State west of that line. This was commonly known as the "Genesee Country," although the title was occasionally more extensively applied, and from it has been formed, the counties of Steuben, Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Erie, Niagara,

INTRODUCTION

These genealogies, comprising the colonial history of the majority of the free African American families of Virginia and North Carolina, reveal a facet of American colonial history previously overlooked by historians:

- Most families were the descendants of white servant women who had children by slaves or free African Americans.
- Families like Gowen, Cumbo, and Driggers who were free in the mid-seventeenth century had several hundred members before the end of the colonial period. They were descended from slaves who were freed before the 1723 Virginia Law which required legislative approval for manumissions.
- Very few families descended from white slave owners who had children by their slaves, perhaps as low as 1% of the total.
- Many free African American families in colonial North Carolina and Virginia were landowners.
- The light-skinned descendants of these families formed the tri-racial isolate communities of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, and Louisiana.

Virginia

Most of the free African Americans of Virginia and North Carolina originated From virginia

Blizzard," married John Charity, 28 June 1808 Surry County bond, Peter Blizzard bondsman.

Endnotes:

1. Thomas Andrews was probably the brother of Charles Andrews who registered as a "free Negro" in Surry County on 24 July 1799: a bright mulatto man 5'6" tall, 26 years old has curled hair, by profession a shoe maker [Back of Guardian Accounts Book 1783-1804, no. 42].

2. Other members of the Newby family were Moses Newby, born about 1782, 16 years old when he was apprenticed to John Bullock of Orange County as a potter in 1798. He was a potter in 1805 when the Guilford County Court ruled that he was free because his parents had been emancipated by Quakers. George Newby, born about 1801, was 12 years old in 1813 when he was apprenticed as a potter to William Dennis of Randolph County [NCGSJ May 1985, p.93]. He was head of a Jackson Township, Wayne County, Indiana household of 5 "free colored" in 1840. Joseph Newby was head of a Sussex County household of 7 "other free" in 1810, also counted in Isle of Wight County, "free Negro" head of a household of 4 "other free" in 1810 [VA:20]. Harry, Aaron, Tony, and Edmond Newby were "free Negro" taxables in Nansemond County in 1815 [Supplement to the 1810 Census of Virginia, S-14].

CHAVIS FAMILY

1. Thomas^1 Chivers, born perhaps 1630, purchased 1,100 acres of land at the head of Sunken Marsh near Chippoakes in Surry County, Virginia, on 20 May 1659. He died sometime before 13 April 1664 when his daughter, Elizabeth, was bound out until she came of age [Haun, Surry County Court Records, I:149; II:232]. His children were > i. Elizabeth^1, born perhaps 1650, bound apprentice to Robert Cartwright on 13 April 1664. Cartwright agreed to pay the securities for the indenture, Thomas Flood and Ben Harrison, one 3 year old mare at the conclusion of the apprenticeship. She was probably the ancestor of the Gibson family. She was called Elizabeth Chavis on 28 March 1672 when she made a successful petition to the General Court of Virginia to release her son, Gibson Gibson, who had been unlawfully bound by Berr. Mercer to Thomas Barber who had gone to England leaving the boy with Samuel Austin [McIlwaine, Minutes of the Council, 302-3].

FAGAN FAMILY

Members of the Fagan family, born about 1750 were

i. William, born say 1746, a taxable head of a Bertie County, North Carolina household with his unnamed wife in the list of Samuel Granberry for 1774.

1 ii. Peter, born say 1748.

1. Peter Fagan, born say 1748, was called A Free Negro ... a Dancing Master living in Halifax (North Carolina) or Southampton County, Virginia when a British merchant made a claim for a debt Peter owed him since 1776 [NCGSJ XI:247]. In 1787 he was paid by the Southampton County estate of Lucy Hunt for teaching Charles and Henry Briggs to dance [WB 2:212]. He was taxable in Surry County, Virginia (called Peter Phaygan) in 1791 on Jim (a slave?) and Anne who was identified as a slave who was then his wife. Anna registered in Surry County on 8 April 1807: Anna alias Anna Fagan a Mulatto woman, who was emancipated by Benjamin Drew by his deed (of emancipation) bearing date the 20th day of December 1792 and carried to record in the County Court of Southampton the 10th January 1793 as appears by an attested copy of said deed ... The said Anna is of a bright complexion, long but bushey Hair, small Eye-brows, 5'4" high rather delicately made, aged about 21 years [Back of Guardian Accounts Book 1783-1804, no.65]. On 9 February 1801 he was paid 3 pounds by

ii. Bathsheba, head of a Duplin County, North Carolina, household of 5 "other free" in 1800.

iii. Prymas, head of a Spotsylvania County, Virginia, household of 4 "other free" in 1810.

iv. China, "free Black" head of a Princess Anne County, Virginia, household of 1 "other free" and one slave in 1810 [VA:454].

GIBSON FAMILY

The Gibson family probably descended from Elizabeth Chavis. On 28 March 1672 she made a successful petition to the General Court of Virginia to release her son, Gibson Gibson, who had been unlawfully bound by Berr. Mercer to Thomas Barber who had gone to England leaving the boy with Samuel Austin [McIlwaine, Minutes of the Council, 302-3]. Her children were

1 i. ?Hubbard Gibson, born say 1665.

2 ii. Gibson Gibson, born say 1667.

1. Hubbard[1] Gibson, born say 1665, was probably identical to Hubert Gibson who appeared in Charles City County Court on 24 March 1691/2 and on 3 August 1693 when he sued John Hardiman for riding his horse to its death [Orders 1687-95, 394, 454, 463]. He was listed in the 1704 Rent Roll for Prince George County [des Cognets, English Duplicates of Lost Virginia Records]. In 1721 he was called Hubbard Gibson when he was taxed on 370 acres and one poll in Chowan County, North Carolina [Haun, Old Albemarle County NC Miscellaneous Records, 330]. On 13 November 1727 he bought an additional 100 acres on the north side of the Roanoke River in what was then Bertie County. He was probably an elderly man by that time since his daughter, Mary, cosigned this deed with him [DB B:324]. The land was situated on the south side of Cypress Swamp in what became Northampton County in 1741. A little over 6 months later on 11 July 1728 he and his sons, Edward Gibson and Hubbard Gibson, Jr., sold 370 acres in Bertie County on the north side of the Roanoke River, explaining in the deed that the land had been granted to Hubbard's deceased son, John, by patent of 10 August 1720 [DB C:37]. The family probably moved to South Carolina with Gideon Gibson in 1731. Hubbard probably died before 1742 when Mary Gibson of Amelia County, South Carolina, sold the 100 acres she and Hubbard purchased in Northampton County [DB 1:58]. His children were

v. [illegible], head of a Duplin County, North Carolina household of 5 "other free" in 1800.

vi. [illegible], head of a Spotsylvania County, Virginia household of 4 "other free" in 1810.

ix. [illegible], "free Black" head of a Princess Anne County, Virginia household of 4 "other free" and one slave in 1810 [VA:454].

GIBSON FAMILY

The Gibson family probably descended from Elizabeth Chavis [illegible] 1672, she made a successful petition to the General Court of Virginia to release her son, Hubbard Gibson, who had been unlawfully bound by [illegible] Merriss to Thomas Barber who had gone to England leaving the boy with Samuel Austin [McIlwaine, Minutes of the Council, 316-7]. Her children were:

1 i. ?Hubbard Gibson, born say 1665.

2 ii. ?Gideon Gibson, born say 1667.

1. Hubbard Gibson, born say 1665, was probably identical to Hubbert Gibson who appeared in Charles City County Court on 24 March 1691/2 and on 3 August 1691 when he sued John Hardiman for taking his horse [illegible] [Orders 1687-95, 378, 398, 463]. He was listed in the 1704 Rent Roll for Prince George County [Prince George, English Duplicates of Lost Virginia Records]. In 17[illegible] he was called Hubbard Gibson when he was granted [illegible] acres and [illegible] in Chowan County, North Carolina [Hofmann, Colonial Records of North Carolina, [illegible]]. On 21 November 1727 he bought [illegible] 180 acres on the north side of the Roanoke River in what was then Bertie County. He was probably [illegible] his daughter, Mary, [illegible] [DB [illegible]]. The land was situated on the south side of Cypress Swamp in what became Northampton County in 1741. A deed [illegible] 11 May 1752 [illegible] Edward Gibson and Hubbard Gibson Jr. sold 150 acres in Bertie County on the north side of the Roanoke River, according to the deed that the land had been granted to [illegible] and John by patent of 30 August 1723 [DB C:17]. The family probably moved to South Carolina with Gideon Gibson in 1731. Hubbard probably died before 1742 when Mary Gibson of [illegible] County, South Carolina, sold the 150 acres she and Hubbard purchased in Northampton County [DB 1:55]. His children were:

i. John^{1}, born perhaps 1685, a joint plaintiff with Adam Cockburn in a Chowan County suit for a debt against Thomas Crank in October Court 1718 [DB B-#1:45]. He was granted 370 acres on 5 April 1720 on a bank of Falling Run in the part of Chowan County which later became Northampton County, but was not listed in the Chowan County Tax list with his father who was taxable on this land in 1721 [Patent 3:15, #1601]. He was said to have been deceased in his father's deed of sale of this land on 11 July 1728 [Bertie DB C:37]. However, he may have been the same as John^{2} who was still living in the same area later that year on 28 October 1728 [DB C:52].

ii. Edward, born before 1706, taxed in 1721 in the same district as his father, witness to the 15 October 1732 Edgecombe deed of William Sims to James Millikin for land on the south side of Quankey Creek [DB 1:20]. He may have been the father of another Edward Gibson, (a Mulatto) a stout well-set Man, with short black curly Hair who escaped prison in South Carolina according to the 19 May 1767 issue of the South Carolina Gazette [Jordan, White Over Black, 174].

iii. Hubbard^{2}, Jr., born before 1706, taxed in 1721 in the same district as his father.

iv. Mary, born perhaps 1705, cosigner of a Bertie County deed with her father on 13 November 1727 [DB B:324]. She was living in Amelia County, South Carolina, in 1742 when she sold this land in what was by then Northampton County [DB 1:58]. She recorded a plat for 200 acres on Flat Creek in Craven County, South Carolina, on 27 January 1756 [Colonial Plats 6:389].

2. Gibson Gibson, born say 1667, was released from his unlawful apprenticeship to Thomas Barber on 28 March 1672. In 1704 he was listed in the Quit Rent Rolls with 150 acres in James City County, called Gibey Gibson [VHM 31:156]. He may have been the father of 3 i. Gideon^{1}, born say 1700.

3. Gideon^{1} Gibson, born say 1700, settled near the Roanoke River in North Carolina about 1720. He purchased 200 acres in what was then Chowan County on the south side of the Roanoke River on 24 July 1721 [DB C-1:142]. He acquired seven slaves and over one thousand acres of land in present day Halifax County, North Carolina, and on the north side of the Roanoke River in Northampton County.(1) Sometime before 22 October 1728 he married Mary Brown, born about 1705, the white daughter of a prosperous planter, William Brown. She (and each of her 6 brothers and sisters) received 150 acres from her father by his 15 December 1718 Chowan County will which was proved in July 1719 [SS 841]. Gideon and his wife, Mary, sold this 150 acres "bounded according to the Will of William Brown Gentl decd..." on 22 October 1728 [Bertie DB C:36]. He must have impressed the other prosperous free African Americans in that area of North Carolina because three of them named their children after him: Gideon/Gibby Chavis, Gideon/ Gibby Bunch, and Gibson Cumbo. Many of the well to do Gibson and Bunch families married whites and were considered white after a few generations.

He sold 108 acres of his land on the south side of the Roanoke River in the first few months of 1730 in what was then Bertie County [DB C:276] before moving to South Carolina with several of his relatives who were living on the other side of the Roanoke River in present-day Northampton County. They came to the attention of the South Carolina Commons House of Assembly in 1731 when a member announced in chamber that several "free colored men with their white wives" had immigrated from Virginia with the intention of settling on the Santee River" [Jordan, White Over Black, 171]. Governor Robert Johnson of South Carolina summoned Gideon Gibson and his family to explain their presence there and after meeting them reported,

> I have had them before me in Council and upon Examination find that they are not Negroes nor Slaves but Free people, That the Father of them here is named Gideon Gibson and his Father was also free, I have been informed by a person who has lived in Virginia that this Gibson has lived there Several Years in good Repute and by his papers that he has produced before me that his transactions there have been very regular, That he has for several years paid Taxes for two tracts of Land and had seven Negroes of his own, That he is a Carpenter by Trade and is come hither for the support of his Family. ... I have in Consideration of his Wifes being a white woman and several White women Capable of working and being Serviceable in the Country permitted him to Settle in this Country [Box 2, bundle: S.C., Minutes of House of Burgesses (1730-35), 9, Parish Transcripts, N.Y. Hist. Soc. by Jordan, White over Black, 172].

Like the early settlers of the North Carolina frontier Governor Johnson was more concerned with the Gibsons' social class than their race.

Both Gideon Bunch and Gideon Gibson were in South Carolina when they sold their adjoining Halifax County land to Montfort Eelbeck of Halifax, and both families were taxed in 1755 as "free Molatas" in Orange County, North Carolina [T&C, box 1].

Gideon and his wife, Mary, recorded the birth of their child, William, in the Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw on 9 October 1744. However, Mary may have died soon afterwards since Martha Gibson was the mother of his children born on 29 July 1745 and thereafter [NSCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 15, 20]. As "Gideon Gibson of Pe De South Carolina" he sold part of his Northampton County land on 16 November 1746 and the remainder on 15 February 1749 [DB 1:280, 383]. In South Carolina he recorded a plat for 200 acres on the northwest side of the Peedee River in Craven County on 13 April 1736 and 200 acres on the south side of the Peedee on 1 January 1746/7 [Colonial Plats 4:320, 4:397]. According to Gregg, he was granted 550 acres in April 1736 and settled in Hickory Grove near Sandy Bluff in present day Marion County [Gregg, History of the Old Cheraws, 73; Sellers, History of Marion County]. On 29 November 1750 he received a grant for 450 acres in Persimmon Grove on the Little Peedee River in Craven County [Royal Grants 4:296]. Land which had been surveyed for him in North Carolina on the north side of the Little Pee Dee River was mentioned in a 17 November 1753 Bladen County land entry [Philbeck, Land Entries: Bladen County, no. 904]. On 13 July 1755 he was granted administration on the estate of James Rowe "late of Prince George's parish planter as greatest creditor," and on the same day he was granted administration on the estate of Matthew Driggers also as greatest creditor [Record of Court Proceedings, 35, 97, 127]. On 2 September 1755 he recorded a plat for 200 acres on the southwest side of the Peedee River adjoining Jordan Gibson [Colonial Plats 6:45]. On 15 January 1760 he was paid 343 pounds by the Public Treasurer for supplying the militia in the campaign against the Cherokees [Clark, Colonial Soldiers of the South, 936]. On 15 February 1765 he was granted administration on the estate of John Herring and appointed guardian to John, Peter, Mary, and Hester G___eys of Prince George's Parish [Record of Court Proceedings, 97]. On 25 July 1767 as a leader of the Regulators, Gideon was involved in a skirmish with a constable's party near Marr's Bluff on the Peedee River. The incident brought matters between the Governor and the Regulators to a head. The South Carolina Gazette, which like the government was far removed from the location, reported in the 15 August 1768 edition that there were two parties of Regulators. One was made up of people of good principle and property, and the other made up of a > gang of banditi, a numerous collection of outcast Mulattos, Mustees, Free Negroes, etc. all horse thieves from the borders of Virginia and other Northern Colonies ... headed by one Gideon Gibson...

Perhaps in a move to divide the two parties Governor Bull pardoned all those involved except > those persons concerned with the outrages and daring violences committed by Gideon Gibson and others upon George Thompson, a lawful constable, and his party, in the actual execution of a legal warrant, at or near Mars Bluff, in Craven County, upon the 25th day of July last. ... 6 August 1768 [Council Journal, no. 34, 208-211].

Colonel Gabriel Powell, sent to arrest Gideon, arrived with 300 men, but to his utter humiliation, his men sided with Gideon saying he was "one of them" [Hooker, The Carolina Backcountry on the Eve of the Revolution, 177]. Powell resigned his commission and made a racist attack on Gideon Gibson in a discussion of the incident on the floor of Commons. Apparently, he fared little better amongst his colleagues of the Commons than he had in the back country. There are no minutes of the session, but a prominent Charleston merchant, Henry Laurens, was present and described the discussion years later in a letter to England:

> Reasoning from the colour carries no conviction ... Gideon Gibson escaped the penalties of the negro law by producing upon camparison more red and white in his face than could be discovered in the faces of half the descendants of the French refugees in our House of Assembly... [Wallace, David Duncan, The Life of Henry Laurens, (N.Y. and London, 1915) by Jordan, White over Black].

Gregg described Gideon as > a man of very marked character, of commanding influence, and prominently connected with the leading events of the region in which he lived.

He was shot dead by his nephew, Colonel Maurice Murphy, during an argument over Murphy's mistreatment of an elderly Tory during the Revolutionary War [Gregg, History of the Old Cheraws, 354]. His children were 4 i. ?John^3, born perhaps 1730.

ii. ?Jordan^1, born perhaps 1730. He was listed in the accounts of the Public Treasurer on 29 October 1759 for supplying the expedition against the Cherokees with 18 horses which he apparently failed to deliver [Clark, Colonial Soldiers of the South, 937]. He was granted land in what was then Bladen County, North Carolina, on the east side of Mitchel's Creek in present day Robeson County near the South Carolina border which he sold on 25 September 1761 [Bladen DB 1738-79: 85]. He may have been the father of Jordan Gibson, Jr., who recorded a plat for 150 acres adjoining Jordan Gibson, Sr., on the southwest side of the Peedee River in Craven County, South Carolina on 26 January 1765 [Colonial Plats 8:20]. He sold 200 acres in Anson County, North Carolina, on the north side of the Pee Dee River on the Falling Creek branch of Hitchcock's Creek to Benjamin Deas on 15 November 1768 by deed witnessed by Gideon Gibson [DB 7:224], and he sold another 300 acres in Anson County in the same area on 2 May 1777 [DB 7:320].(2) Perhaps he was related to Thomas Gibson who purchased land in this same area of Anson County on eight__ August 1761 [DB 6:190]. According to Gregg, Jordan went to the West as a companion of Daniel Boone. He was among those "killed by Indians" in North Carolina on 7 January 1788 [NCGSJ IX:236].

iii. ?Luke, listed in the accounts of the Public Treasurer of South Carolina, paid 4.17.6 pounds on 31 October 1759 for unspecified services to the battalion in the expedition against the Cherokees [Clark, Colonial Soldiers of the South, 936].

iv. William, born 15 September 1743, son of Gideon and Mary, baptized 9 October 1743 [NSCDA, Parish Register

v. Sarah, born 29 July 1744/5, daughter of Gideon and Martha, baptized 20 October 1745 [NSCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 20].

vi. Gideon², born 12 March 1750, son of Gideon and Martha, baptized 2 June 1753 [NSCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 34]. On 21 September 1773 he was accused before the court in Charleston of having assaulted James McCasey the previous month in Georgetown [Judgment Roll 1774, Box 99B, 23A]. He received about 39 pounds for providing provisions to the militia between 1780 and 1782 [Accounts Audited, no.2786].

vii. Reuben, born 29 November 1751, son of Gideon and Martha, baptized 29 May 1753 [NSCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 32].

viii. ?Stephen. According to Gregg, Gideon had three sons, one of whom was Stephen who became wealthy and moved to Georgia about the year 1800. The Hon. Thomas Butler King married his daughter [Gregg, History of the Old Cheraws, 74].

ix. ?Roger, another son of Gideon who, according to Gregg, went West before the Revolution.

x. ?Daniel, taxable on 100 acres in Marrs Bluff, Liberty County (Prince Frederick Parish) in 1786 [S.C. Tax Returns 1783-1800, frame 119], head of a Georgetown District, Prince Fredericks Parish, household of 6 "other free" in 1790.

4. John³ Gibson, born perhaps 1730, and his wife, Jemima, were living in South Carolina when the birth of their children was recorded. Their children were

i. Gibson, born 25 February 1749, baptized 29 May 1753.

ii. John⁴, born 6 January 1753, baptized 29 May 1753 [NSCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 33]. Perhaps he was the John Gibson who was head of a Charleston District, St. Bartholomew's Parish, household of 7 "other free" in 1790 [SC:36].

of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 18).

v. Sarah, born 26 May 1748 (?), daughter of Gideon and Martha, baptized 30 October 1748 (SCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 39).

vi. Gideon, born 12 March 1750, son of Gideon and Martha, baptized 7 June 1753 (SCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 14). On 21 September 1771 he was brought before the court in Charleston of having assaulted James McKelvey the previous month in Charleston (Judgment Roll 1774, Box 93B, 33A). He received about 12 pounds for providing provisions to the militia between 1779 and 1782 (Accounts Audited, [illegible]).

vii. Reuben, born 28 November 1751, son of Gideon and Martha, baptized 29 May 1753 (SCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 32).

viii. Charles. According to Gregg, Gideon had three sons, one of whom was Charles, who became wealthy and moved to Georgia about the year 1800. His son, Thomas Butler King, married his daughter (Gregg, History of the Old Cheraws, 76).

ix. Hugh, another son of Gideon who, according to Gregg, went West before the Revolution.

x. [illegible], taxable on 100 acres in [illegible], [illegible] of Prince Frederick Parish in 1786 (SCDA Tax Returns, 1783-1800, Reel 1), head of a Georgetown District, Prince Frederick Parish, household of [illegible] in 1790.

[illegible], born perhaps 1726, and his wife, [illegible], were living in South Carolina when the birth of their children was recorded. Their children were:

i. Gideon, born 15 February 1748, baptized 29 May 1753.

ii. John, born 6 January 1750, baptized 29 May 1753 (SCDA, Parish Register of Prince Frederick Winyaw, 32). Perhaps he was the John Gibson who was listed as a [illegible] of Georgetown, in [illegible] household of [illegible] in 1790 ([illegible]).

5. John^2 Gibson, born perhaps 1705, received a grant for 328 acres on the south side of the Roanoke joining John Lowe, Jackson, and the swamp on 1 December 1727 [Patent 3:249, #2552]. He was a witness to the 12 August 1728 Bertie County deed of William Whitehead to Edward Bass for land near Urahaw Swamp [DB C:135]. He may have been Gideon^1's brother or cousin since it appears he was living near Gideon's land in Northampton County which Gideon purchased on 7 August 1727 and sold on 15 February 1749 while a resident of South Carolina. John^2 purchased 335 acres in Bertie County on the north side of Cashie River and Wahton Swamp near the Northampton County line on 28 October 1728 [DB C:52] and was a resident of Bertie on 28 October 1731 when he sold 250 acres in Bertie County on Elk Marsh by an Edgecombe County deed [DB 1:7]. Perhaps he was the John Gibson who recorded a plat for 300 acres in Congrees Township, Berkeley County, South Carolina, on 3 February 1735/6 [Colonial Plats, 4:43]. On 5 February 1756 he made a deed of gift of his household goods in Northampton County to his son, George Gibson [WB 2:251]. His children were 6 i. George^1, born perhaps 1730, died in 1776.

Born same year as

ii. ?William, born perhaps 1732, a resident of Northampton County on 18 February 1755 when he purchased 100 acres on Burnt Coat Swamp in the part of Edgecombe County which became Halifax County in 1758 [DB 2:186].

iii. ?Charles, born before 1739 since he was taxable in 1750 in John Wade's list for Granville County [CR 44.701.23]. This part of Granville County became Orange County in 1752 and Charles was "a Molata" taxable there in 1755 [T&C Box 1, p.19]. He received a grant for 190 acres on the south side of Bear Swamp in Northampton County on 9 August 1786 and sold it two years later on 31 December 1788 [DB 8:169]. He was head of a Northampton County household of 7 free males and 2 free females in Captain Winborne's District for the state census in 1786 [Census p.29]. He was living in Wayne County, North Carolina, in August 1818 when he made a declaration to obtain a pension for Revolutionary War service. He claimed that he enlisted for 9 months in the Tenth Regiment at the courthouse in Northampton County, North Carolina. However, there was no record of his discharge or service. Perhaps he was the same Charles Gibson who applied for a pension from Hawkins County, Tennessee, at the age of 92 years on 19 January 1839. He claimed to have been born in Louisa County, Virginia on 19 January 1739 and entered into the service in Salisbury, North Carolina. His neighbors, Jordan and Jonathan Gibson and Benjamin Collins, testified on his behalf [M805-355, frames 55, 62].

6. George^1 Gibson, born perhaps 1730, was a taxable in 1750 in John Wade's list for Granville County [CR 44.701.23]. This part of Granville became Orange County in 1752, and George was a "Molata" taxable there in 1755 [T&C Box 1, p.19]. By 19 November 1757 he had married Elizabeth Lowe, a white woman of Northampton County, daughter of John and Sarah Lowe. She was mentioned in her father's will of that date. By the terms of this will his wife received a slave and he was allowed to continue to live on 150 acres of land in Northampton County [WB 1:41]. While resident in Northampton County he purchased 439 acres on Quankey Creek in Halifax County on 5 June 1761 and sold it for the same price 2 years later on 17 January 1763 [DB 7:318; 8:209]. While residing in Orange County on 18 July the same year, he sold two slaves and sixteen head of cattle (which he received from his mother-in-law's estate) to his brother-in-law, Thomas Lowe, of Northampton County [DB 3:622]. On 26 May 1770 he purchased 150 acres on the west side of Flat River in Orange County from (his uncle?) Thomas Gibson. His 5 November 1775 Orange County will was proved in May 1776 [WB A:195]. He named his (then) wife, Mary, and mentioned but did not name his "Sons and Daughters now living in the County" and provided for the schooling of his unnamed younger children. Joel Gibson and Lucrecy Collins were witnesses; Thomas Gibson, Sr., was executor. After his death Mary entered 300 acres on Greens Creek and Rutledges Creek in Caswell County on 13 January 1779 on a line agreed between William Hog and Julius Gibson [Pruitt, Land Entries: Caswell County, 75], and she entered 200 acres in Caswell County on the South Hyco Creek bordering Orange County on 26 July 1779 [Pruitt, Land Entries: Caswell County, I:89].(3) She was taxable in Caswell in 1790 [NC:79]. The inventory of her Caswell County estate was recorded by Joel Gibson in 1795. The inventory mentioned James, John, and Richard Gibson [WB C:118]. Perhaps George Gibson's children were

i. Andrew, born perhaps 1755, a Caswell County taxable in 1777. He entered 100 acres on both sides of Kilgore's Bridge in Caswell County on 25 August 1778 [Pruitt, Land Entries: Caswell County, 47]. He may have been the Andrew Gibson who was appointed Tax Collector for Chatham District of Orange County at the 29 August 1782 session of the County Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions. He was a juror on 26 November 1783. In 1790 he was counted as white in the Tenth Company of Wilkes County, head of a household of one male over 16, 3 males under 16, and 6 females [NC:123]. He was head of an Ashe County household of 7 "other free" in 1800 [NC:79].(4)

ii. George^2, born perhaps 1757, a Randolph County taxable in 1779.

iii. John^6, born in Orange County, North Carolina on 16 September 1760 according to his father's family bible. He grew up in Guilford County, North Carolina where he entered the service. He moved to Tennessee in 1805, and was living there on 16 July 1833 when he made his pension application. He was a horseman employed in collecting cattle for the use of the army [M805-355, frame 0197].

iv. Thomas^2, born in Randolph County, North Carolina, on 15 November 1763. When he was 18 years old he volunteered in Guilford County and served for two years. He was allowed a pension while a resident of Randolph County. He died 15 October 1850 leaving his children, David, Joseph, Hannah (wife of P.M. Nixon), Mary (wife of John H. Hill), and George Gibson [M805-355, frame 0409].

v. Wilbourne, born in Guilford County in 1763 according to his father's family bible. He was drafted into the service in Randolph County in 1781. He applied for a pension while residing in Ripley County, Indiana, on 15 May 1838. His wife, Rebecca, died 3 March 1839, and he died on 4 April 1843. His only heirs were his daughter, Mary Ann Lewis and her husband, George W. Lewis, who were living in Ripley County, Indiana, on 19 October 1852 when they applied for a survivor's pension [M805-355, frame 0411]. There is a marriage bond recorded for him in Stokes County on 20 November 1797 with Thomas Hill bondsman, but the bride's name was not recorded. His 16 year old son, Hezekiah, was bound to James Reed in Burke County in October 1804 "due to abandonment" [Wills, Administrations, & Orphans, 1791- 1810, 511 by N.C. Genealogy XIX:2827].

vi. Julius, a Wilkes County taxable in 1784.

vii. Lucrecy Collins.(5)

7. Thomas^1 Gibson, born perhaps 1720, was taxable in Granville County with Charles and George Gibson in John Wade's list in 1750 [CR 44.701.23]. He received two patents for a total of 250 acres in Granville County on Flat River on 2 May 1752 [Hoffman, Granville Land Grants, 31- 2]. Orange County was formed from this part of Granville County in 1752, and he was head of an Orange County

ii. George³, born perhaps 1755, a Randolph County tenant in 1779.

iii. John³, born in Orange County, North Carolina on 16 November 1758 according to his father's family Bible. He grew up in Guilford County, North Carolina where he entered the service. He moved to Tennessee in 1810, and was living there on 16 July 1833 when he made his pension application. He was a [illegible] employed in collecting cattle for the use of the army [M804, S38, frame 0172].

iv. Thomas³, born in Randolph County, North Carolina on 13 November 1762. When he was 18 years old he volunteered in Guilford County, and served for two years. He was allowed a pension while a resident of Randolph County. He died 11 December 1839 leaving six children: Sarah, Joseph, Thomas (wife of F.M. Brown), Mary (wife of John M. Hill), and George Gibson [M804-1113, frame 0069].

v. William³, born in Guilford County in 1763 according to his father's family Bible. He was drafted into the service in Randolph County in 1781. He applied for a pension while residing in Rush County, Indiana on 15 May 1833. His wife, Rebecca, died 5 March 1839, and he died on 4 April 1843. His only heirs were his daughter, Mary Ann Lewis and her husband, George W. Lewis, who were living in Henry County, Indiana, on 19 October 1853, when they applied for a survivor's pension [M804-155, frame 0311]. There is a marriage bond recorded for him in Stokes County on 30 November 1787 with Thomas Hill bondsman, and the bride's name was not recorded. His 16 year old son, Randolph, was bound to James Reed in Burke County in January 1804 "due to abandonment" [Wills, Administrations, & Inventories, 1792-1810, 532 by NC Genealogy XIX:2877].

vi. Jonas³, a Wilkes County taxable in 1784.

vii. Harvey Gibson³.

Thomas¹ Gibson, born perhaps 1730, was taxable in Granville County with Charles and George Gibson in Tally Walsh's list in 1750 [CR 44.701.20]. He entered two patents for a total of 250 acres in Granville County on Ash River on 8 May 1752 [Hoffman, Granville Land Grants, II:17]. Orange County was formed from this part of Granville County in 1752, and he was head of an Orange County household of 3 taxable "Molatas" in 1755 [T&C, box 1, p.19].(6) This land was on Flat River adjoining Charles Gibson, Moses Ridley, and Thomas Collins [Bennett, Abstract of Loose Papers in Granville Proprietary Office, 34, 43]. On 26 May 1770 he sold three tracts of land on the west side of Flat River "part of 606 acres which the sd. Thos. Gibson purchased of Earl Granville:" 100 acres to James Williams [DB 3:468], 150 acres to George Gibson [DB 3:622], and land to Joel Gibson [DB 3:471]. He received a grant for 150 acres in Wilkes County on the north side of Obed's Creek on the South Fork of New River on 3 November 1796 [DB A:142] and sold 100 acres of this land on 18 January 1800 [DB A:147].(7) He probably died about 1802 when (his son?) Joel sold land in this same area. His children may have been

i. Major, born before 1746, "a Molata" taxable in 1755 in Orange County [T&C Box 1, p.19], and a taxable in Randolph County in 1779. He was counted as white in the 1790 Burke County census, head of a household of 2 males and 3 females in the Eighth company [NC:109]. He was taxable in Burke County on 55 acres and no polls in 1794 (since he was over 50 years old) [Huggins, Burke County, N.C. Records, IV:110].

ii. Joel, born about 1750, purchased land in Orange County from (his father?) on 26 May 1770. He was a Caswell County taxable in 1777 and 1786. He was counted as white in Tenth Company of Burke County in 1790, head of a household of one male over 16 and one female [NC:123]. He sold 200 acres in Ashe County on Obed's Creek on 29 January 1802 [DB A:213] and another 100 acres on 6 March 1804 [DB B:311]. He bought 50 acres on the north bank of the South Fork of New River in Ashe County on 13 July 1804 and sold it a year later on 5 March 1805 [DB B:339]. He was head of an Ashe County household of 2 "other free" in 1800 [NC:78] and was counted as white in Wilkes County in 1810 [NC:853]. He may have been the Joel Gibson who applied for a pension in Henderson County, Kentucky, on 25 April 1825 at the age of 75 for service in the First North Carolina Regiment. His wife was deceased at the time and all his children but one were married and away from home. He was supported by his son, Bailey Gibson, who had numerous small children to support [M805-355, frame 0162].

iii. John^{5}/Jack Gibson, born perhaps 1756, a Caswell County taxable in 1777, 1784, and 1786. He was head of a Wilkes County household of 2 "other free" and 1 white woman over 45 years of age in 1810 [NC:853]. The white woman was probably Milley Gibson who made a Wilkes County deed of gift of 2 tracts of land in Burke County on 27 February 1818. The land was to be held by her son, Drury, in trust for her son, Isom, when he came of age [DB I:138].

iv. Nathan, born before 1776, head of a Burke County household of 6 "other free" in 1800 and 12 "free colored" in Haywood County in 1830.

v. Archibald, who was counted as white in the Tenth Company of Wilkes County, head of a household of one male over 16, one under 16, and 9 females in 1790 [NC:123] but counted as "other free" in 1800, head of an Ashe County household of 7 [NC:78].

vi. Jordan[2], head of a Tenth Company, Wilkes County household of one white over 16, 3 under 16 and one white female in 1790 [NC:123].

vii. Dorothy, head of a Tenth Company, Wilkes County household of two males over 16, two males under 16, and two females in 1790 [NC:123].

Mrs Vollentine,

Thank you very much for your prompt response to my request. I also appreciate the opportunity to correspond with you.

First, allow me to say what a wonderful job Jean Constable is doing at the Archives. I can't tell you how many times Jean has helped my wife and I in our search for Gibson/Gipson family information. We truly appreciate what a valuable asset to the county that she is.

I also wish to say how nice it is to be able to have such an excellent repository of historical information, as the archives. I hope the county officials continue to understand the importance of maintaining this valuable asset and provide the appropriate budgeting and support.

On another note, I was hoping that you might be able to steer me to information or one of your contacts who may be most knowledgable about the San Marcos River Bridge (off of Cone street) and the old Ben Duncan - Jim Gipson Ferry (located at Range 8, Block 14 on lots 4 and franctional 3).

[illegible] are searching for the graves of James Gipson and his wife Sarah and his brother, Archibald Gibson. They are reportedly buried at the site of the old ferry.

Arch and James (and Sarah) were early settlers of DeWitt Colony. James Gipson's daughter, Bathsheba, married Miles Bennet son of Valentine Bennet another early settler of the area. In his diary, Bennet, indicates that Arch was at the battle of San Jacinto and provides a few nuggets of information about the locations of the Ferry.

James and Arch were both at the Plum Creek battle against the marauding Commanche. Arch played a key role carrying the message from Ben McCulloch to General Burleson announcing the attack. At the same battle, he helped Henry McCulloch and Alsey Miller save the bacon of a fellow Ranger as he was surrounded by Commanches and nearly overwhelmed.

James went on to become a Justice in the Gonzales precinct, played a key role in the purchase of the courthouse (1841) and to run the Gipson Ferry across the Guadelupe and later the San Marcos rivers.

Arch continued to ride with both Ben and Henry McCulloch and John Hays as a Texas Ranger. Arch was a wounded in Hays famous charge on General Wolf's rear guard at the battle of Hondo. This did not deter him from further military duty as he again rode with Hays as a Sargent in McCulloch's mounted volunteers in the Mexican War. He is mentioned by his peers and later writers as a respected member of the county and fierce fighter of Indians and Mexicans (Z. N. Morrell, Jim Nichols, Walter Prescott Webb, Henry Brown, A. J. Sowell, Willbarger, Wilkins).

James moved his Ferry boat from it's original location at the Guadelupe, near where today's Independence park is located, up to where the Ben Duncan survey is. He operated the Ferry at this location until he died. After James death circa March 1855 his estate rented out the land, ferry, and boat. James McBryde (1857), and Ben Duncan (1858 - 1862) all ran the Ferry after James died. Mooney & Pick completed the San Marcos Bridge in 1856 about a mile North of the Gipson place (it may have been South of the Gibson place as some references indicate). This did not seem to deter the ferry operation as J. J. Hodges [illegible]s known to have operated it as late as 1863.

Our search for the Ferry's location has just begun. Thanks to family oral history, the excellent work THE HISTORY OF GONZALES COUNTY (pages 2, 3, 5, 94), copies of probate court records of the James Gibson succession, clippings from the Ferry's & Bridges verticle file at the Gonzales library, and the manuscript of Virginia Meynard we have been able to narrow the location of where the Ferry was operated and where the graves might be. We hope the graves were not washed away in one of the many floods of the San Marcos (1869, 1885, 1900, 1913, etc) such as the one in April of 1900 which washed away the approaches to the San Marcos Bridge.

n hoping that you might be able to help us identify the exact location of the Ferry (north or south of the bridge and how far) and to make contact with the land owners to gain permission to search for the graves on their property. We have made contact with Mr. & Mrs. Tylmon Gray and have their willing assistance. Any other contacts or information you could provide would be very much appreciated.

Kind regards,

8-19-99 - To Bev Mundy

Hi Bev - Glad to hear from you. I had lost all track of time, and totally forgot that you would have been in Salt Lake at the time of the tornado. It's good news to hear you are/were safe.

Thanks for letting me know the results of your research. I down loaded your summary, but am unable to open it. Since you really didn't find anything, I don't think I'm going to sweat it right now. I am no whiz-bang at the computer when it comes to attaching etc. My daughter (Rev. Alice) sends me her sermon every week, and since we both use Word Perdect, there is no problem. But outside of that, I'm a babe in the woods.

To answer your questions: See the 1800 Ashe Co. NC census: Several Gibsons who appeared to be related, including Archibald and Ezekiel (presumably Arch's brother) are listed as persons of color. At the time I was doing this research, I hadn't a clue about the Coles and therefore did not look for them. I am under the impression that Levin was already in KY by 1800--is that right?

About Archibald's birthdate of 1758 VA--would like to know where that came from. (I have not heard of Ron Cole, before--just Debbie DeHart) I would bet that 1758 comes from his tombstone in IN--which I have already written you about. His gravestone says d. 1855 age 95 yrs old....which places his birth date at 1760. I seriously doubt he was born that early--because of various inconsistent ages given in subsequent censuses. In the 1810 Floyd Co.KY census he was between 26-45 yrs. After that, I think Arch and Vashti began to lose count....doubt if they COULD count. Their ages in 1850 and on their tombstones were probably estimated.
I will stick by my original estimate that he was born c. 1768-69. I agree, he was probably born in VA--Pittsylvania Co.

About Vashti's name. Her father's will names her as "VashtI' - And if anyone knew her real name HE certainly would! Her name on her gravestone is "Veshte". It appears she was named for Queen Vashti in the book of Esther.

Archibald Gibson bought land on Carr's Creek in Perry Co., KY in 1820 and sold in 1821 to James Gibson and to others. signed by Archibald and "Abasha" his wife.

Floyd Co.KY Court Orders Vol. 4, 1821-26 , 264 - Nov. court 1824 - James Gibson at the suit of William Johnson on appeal Ordered that Archibald Gibson, "Vashi" Gibson, William Gibson and Deidamia Rogers be allowed the sum of fifty cents each for attending this day as witnesses for said James Gibson also the sum of two pence per mile each for once coming and returning forty miles each as witnesses aforesaid respectively"

1850 census, Hendricks Co. IN Archibald and "Bashts"

Hendricks Co. IN Land Deeds, 1 March 1838 - Archibald and "Bashiba" Gibson to Absalom Dent 80 acres for $600

Hendricks Co. IN Deeds, 22 Apr 1852 - Archibald of Boone Co. IN to John Adams of Hendricks Co 800 acres for $1100 - "Bersheba" relinquishes her right of dower..

Off hand--those are my references to Vashti Cole Gibson. These people were illiterate; and probably had a broad accent which was difficult for census takers to understand. I vote for the Biblical version of her name, which is close to the way she appears in her Dad's estate, and on her gravestone. I don't think her name was Bathsheba.

My gr.grandfather was Samuel Gipson (with a "p") The change was made, as I understand, because some deed or other government record had it that way, and they were afraid to change if back for fear they would lose the land. It may be that Arch and Vashti were also intimidated by government documents and acquiesced to the various versions of her name.

All for now....Sorry this is so long.

I can't say for certain that the Coles were Melungeon, but the Cole family name appears on the the list of typical Melungeon names of that time.
Glad you are back hom safe and sound.

Ezekiel's estate was not settled until 1851. Peter B. Kennedy was appointed guardian of Rachel, Sarah Ellen and William Clinton Co. IN 11 May 1846.

Lucinda Jane (Jenny) Johnson was the "daughter of Andrew Johnson" in the Floyd Co. KY marriage records. I was unable to determine which of two Andrew Johnsons was her father. After Ezekiel's death, Lucinda had two more children who went by the surname Gibson, although obviously not the children of Ezekiel:
  (1) Louisa Catherine Gibson, b. 22 Jan 1839, Clinton Co. IN - m. Moses Breese, d. 16 Aug 1912 in Kentland, IN
  (2) George Washington Gibson, b. 26 Sep 1942, Clinton Co. IN - m. 1st Mary Elizabeth Ferguson; m. 2nd Mary C. Wills. He d. 3 Jan 1885, is buried in Kirklin, IN.

m. Vashti Cole c. 1791 (daughter of Levin Cole, who was b. 1759; d. 1816 St.Louis Co. MO)
(b. c. 1775 by estimation; d. 4 Oct 1855 at Boone Co. ;bur. Lowry Pioneer Cmty. Jamestown, IN)

Nine Children (named in Archibald's last will and testament.)

1. John Gibson
b. 1793, N C. m 02 Jun 1818 Elizabeth Hopper (b. 1800, d. 09 Sep 1846); Ky.)
m. 2nd Mariah — @ Boone Co. IN c. 1848 (Mariah b. 1813)
d. 13 Jan 1872

(Sources: John and Betsy were named in research of Pierre E. Haynes. John and Betsy are buried in Lowry Pioneer Cemetary, Jamestown, IN - Boone Co. IN. Death dates and ages at death are on their grave marker. Their marriage found in Floyd Co. KY marriage records. John in Hendricks and Boon Co. IN censuses, appears to be married to Mariah in 1860. Uncle Pierre E. Haynes says Betsy and John met while crossing the mountains when she was 15. She made the trip on foot. This is one of the reasons I believe various members of Archibald and Vashti's family made several trips back and forth from NC, possibly TN and KY. John and Betsy had seven children. Mariah and John had two.)

2. James Gibson
b. c. 1794 KY. (Estimated from census)
m. 19 Nov 1819 Sarah (Sally) Davis (b. 1800, d. Jun 1879); KY.
d. 11 Jan 1855 Texas

(Sources - James and Sally were named in family research of Pierre E. Haynes. James in the 1830 Hendricks Co. IN census and in Hendricks Co. deeds 9-19-1826 and 10-5-1828. All other family information comes from Jules Gipson.)

3. Ezekiel Gibson
b. c. 1795 (P.E. Haynes plus 1820 Floyd Co.KY census and 1830, Hendricks Co. IN census)
m. 30 May 1819 Lucinda Jane (Jenny) Johnson (b. circa 1803, d. circa 1855); Prestonburgh, KY.
d. 01 Feb 1837, Kirklin, IN (Clinton Co. IN)

Sources: This is my ancestor. He and Lucinda and their children are all named by P.E. Haynes. Ezekiel and Lucinda are in the census 1820 Floyd Co. KY and 1830 Hendricks Co. IN. Their marriage is in Floyd Co. KY marriage records; she was the daughter of Andrew Johnson. His death date supplied by P.E. Haynes. Believe he was buried on the Clinton Co. IN farm. There is no explanation for why he died so young. Lucinda had three more children after Ezekiel died, all of whom bear the Gipson surname. Their father was believed to have been an Indian, according to P.E. Haynes.

4. Jesse Gibson
b. c. 1797 Ky. (1850 census)
m. 09 Mar 1828 Mollie Johnson (b. circa 1810)
d. after 1850 (still living in 1850)

Sources: Named by P.E. Haynes who said both parents consented to the marriage probably in KY. Jesse was on the delinquent tax list in Hendricks Co.IN 1848; was the administrator of Ezekiel's estate. Birth dates for Jesse, Mollie and children come from 1850 census. Jesse and Mary sold 80 acres in Hendricks Co. to John R.

Thompson 5 Mar 1833 for $1650. It looks as though the land belonged to her father. P.E. Haynes believed Jesse died in Texas.

5. Archie Gibson Jr.
b. 1799, KY. (This date from P.E. Haynes)
m. 1837 Miss Putman TX (she d. circa 1850)
d. c. 1881 TX (noted Texas ranger).

Sources: Mostly P.E. Haynes who found information about him in a Texas -?- Book, p. 598 — can't read his writing! Also found him in the census 1830, also 1850, 1860. Jules sent stories about Archie Jr. but no dates. (Is it possible that Archie Gibson's death was 26 Jan 1881? PEH references Missouri Mil. Ac. 7-1-1875 2st 13th Cav.. 6-13-1879...this is on a separate card from the other information about Arch Jr.)

6. Elizabeth Gibson
. b. 1805 " TN" (she said in 1850 census)
d. c. 1895

Sources: P.E. Haynes; Mrs. Patrick (Casey) Finn of Fairfax, VA; census records from 1850. She was known as "Big Toe Bet" according to my uncle's records. It was also said that she was so large that a special chair was built for her to use; and that she had to turn sideways to go through a door. Archibald and Vashti were living with her in 1850. Elizabeth had one son — William, from whom Patrick Finn is descended. Elizabeth is one of the problems we have about exact ages of the Gibsons, because of discrepancies in the census. Her age in the 1850 census was 30 years old (wonder if that isn't 50 yrs. old, mis-read!) She could not have been 30 in 1850 as her son was born 1831 according to a biography in a Boone Co. IN Atlas, p. 31 - dated 1878. It appears that William was probably illegitimate.

7. William Gibson
b. c. 1800 KY.
m. 1st 14 Jun 1819 Nancy Justice KY
m. 2nd 01 Jul 1831 Lavisa "Vicey" W. Pritchett Hendricks Co. IN (She b. 1812, d. after 1850)
d. After 3 Aug 1837 and before 1 Feb 1839

Sources: Census Floyd Co. KY 1820 (16-26 yrs); census 1840 Hendricks Co. IN; estate sale on 1 Feb 1839; estate administered by John Pritchett Dec. 1838 ; also Floyd Co. KY and Hendricks Co. IN marriage records. William probably came with John to IN in 1828. Census in 1840 shows Vicey with 3 children under 10. It has been said that William choked to death.

8. Nancy Gibson
b. c. 1803
m. 29 Jan 1821 Hiram Young Floyd Co. KY

Sources: Floyd Co. marriage records - Archibald signed the marriage bond. Nancy was not listed by P.E. Haynes. I was not sure she was a daughter of Archibald and Vashti until Arch's will came to light. They are in the 1830 census Hendricks Co.IN. She was 20-30; they had four daughters under 10 yrs.

9. Rachel L. Gipson
b. c. 1810 KY.
m. 26 Jan 1830 Absalom Dent Hendricks Co. IN

Sources: P.E. Haynes records; Hendricks Co. marriage records; Archibald sold 80 acres near Crawfordsville, IN to Absalom Dent 1 Mar 1838 for $600 (Book 6, p.265)

All I can tell you about Archibald and Vashti Gibson

Birthplace-

Birthplace - Probably born in PITTSYLVANIA CO. VA. Explanation (supplied by Jules Gipson) When the census taker asked where Arch was born in 1850, he probably gave the County name, and the Census taker took him to mean Pennsylvania. when he was probably saying "Pittsylvania". (Jules worked for the census bureau and said that this kind of mistake was made quite often in early censuses Pittsylvania Co. was formed in 1766. Pittsylvania Co. VA is located on the state line between VA and NC and just a little east of Wilkes/Ashe Cos. .NC. Jules Gibson had always understood that Archibald was from VA.

Archibald's birthdate

b. 1860 (gravestone says 95 yrs. in 1855)
b. aft. 1866 (when Pittsy.Co.VA formed from old Lunenburg Co.VA)
b. by 1769 - Tax lists in Wilkes Co.NC -Ray's Dist. Also in 1790 cns.
b. between 1755 and 1774 (26-45 in 1810 Floyd Co.KY cns)
b. by 1775 (over 45 in 1820 Floyd Co.KY cns.)
b. 1770-1780 (50-60 in 1830 Floyd Co.,KY cns.)
b. 1760-1770 (70-80 in 1840 Hendricks Co.IN cns.)
b. 1758 (92 in 1850 IN cns.)

Vashti (Veshta) Cole Gibson - believe she also born in Pittsy.Co.VA

b. 1762 (93 yrs.old at death in 1855 - gravestone)
b. 1784-1794 (16-26 yrs. in 1810)
b. by 1775 (over 45 in 1820)
b. 1770-1780 (50-60 in 1830)
b. 1760-1770 (60-70 in 1830)
b. 1758 (92 in 1850)
b. 1778-1780 (if 15-17 yrs. when first child born in 1793)
b. c.1771 (if near forty when last child born c. 1810)

My best guess - an average of the above dates!
Archibald b. c.1769-1770 in Pittsylvania Co.VA
Vashti b. c.1775 in Pittsylvania Co.VA
m. c.1791 in Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC (they lived in a part of Wilkes Co. which later became Ashe Co.)

Arch. and Veshta moved from NC to KY c.1793-94. (First child born in NC and all the rest born in KY 1794 and after. Possible exception is Elizabeth who SAID she was born in TN in the 1850 census.)

Moved to Hendricks Co. IN c. 1829 - appear in 1830- 1850 census there.

Vashti, Veshte, Veshta, Basht, Bathsheba,Abashta, Bashti, Bashts, etc.
Believe her name was probably Vashti for Queen Vashti in the Book of Esther.

Sources of Information and Other Notes: Family records compiled in the 1920's and "30's by my uncle Pierre E. Haynes (PEH) (b. 1885; d. 1950.) Some of the Gibson/ Gipson information came to him from other family members, quoting Samuel Preston Gipson, Archibald's grandson, who said that Vashti was of "French descent."

Archibald owned land on Cranberry Creek, Wilkes (Ashe) Co. NC--50 acres 1793. In Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC census 1790 and 1800; being classified as free persons of color in 1800. In Floyd Co. KY census 1810, 1820; Hendricks Co. IN census 1830, 1840, 1850.

An Ezekiel Gibson who married Rachel Terry — appears to have been a brother of Archibald's. He died before 1842, leaving heirs named in a couple of land records. These records helped to identify some of the other Gibsons in Floyd Co. KY. (Ezekiel information from a descendant D. Fred Reed.)

I have been told that Archibald and Vashti lived for a time in Madison Co. KY with (brother?) Ezekiel and Vashti's father Levin Cole c. 1897-1810. It appears that there was some traveling back and forth between KY and NC between c. 1797 and c.1820. P.E. Haynes said that John Gibson, Archibald's son, met his wife Elizabeth (Betsy) Hopper as they were crossing the mountains.(about 1815) Elizabeth made the trip on foot.

Sources of Information and Other Notes: Family records compiled in the 1920's by my uncle Pierre E. Haynes (PEH) (b. 1885; d. 1950.) Some of the Gibson/ Gipson information came to him from other family members, quoting Samuel Preston Gipson, Archibald's grandson, who said that Vashti was of "French descent."

Also all the usual public records--VA; NC, KY, IN census, tax records, deeds, court records, marriage records, histories, etc.

The ages of Archibald and Vashti in the census and on their gravestone are inconsistent. I finally averaged out the possibilities!

The list of their children came from PEH and has been more or less confirmed by other descendants of theirs. Now confirmed by the lwt of Archibald.

Archibald owned land on Cranberry Creek, Wilkes (Ashe) Co. NC--50 acres 1793. In Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC census 1790 and 1800; being classified as free persons of color in 1800. In Floyd Co. KY census 1810, 1820; Hendricks Co. IN census 1830, 1840, 1850. PEH also named Absolom, Jordon and Joel also as possible sons of Archibald and Vashti--but I found no evidence--even circumstantial--that they belonged in this family. Joel was the son of Ezekiel, the presumed brother of Arch.

An Ezekiel Gibson who married Rachel — appears to have been a brother of Archibald's. He died Floyd Co. KY before 1842, leaving heirs named in a couple of land records. He appeared in the census: Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC 1790 and 1800 (also as free persons of color) and in Floyd Co. KY 1820.

Zachariah Gibson is also listed in Ashe/Wilkes Co. NC records as well as Floyd Co. KY records. My uncle says he started the first tan yard in Jamestown; but I have never found any record of this. He was listed as one of 4 free persons of color in Floyd Co. 1820 census, living with a white female and 1 white male under 10.

A descendant of a Martin Gibson, who is related somehow, says that Archibald and Vashti lived for a time in Madison Co. KY with brother Ezekiel and Vashti's father Levin Cole c. 1797-1810. It appears that there was some traveling back and forth between KY and NC between c. 1797 and c.1820. My uncle said that John Gibson, Archibald's son, met his wife Elizabeth (Betsy) Hopper during one trip across the mountains. Elizabeth made the trip barefoot! She is in the census 1850 and 1880

Martin Gibson died before 1840 in Perry Co. KY and his widow moved back to her family in Tazewell Co. VA.

Archibald Jr. was a noted fighter of both Indians and Mexicans; and lost an eye in the Mexican war. He is in the census Gonzales, TX 1830.

James, son of Archibald and Vashti, had two wives. He may have had them both at the same time--one in IN and one in TX - in the 1830 census, it looks as though he may have been counted twice; it's possible that one of the wives was Indian.

The National Melungeon Registry

Who Are the Melungeons?

Like the mists that envelop the mountains, the Melungeons are a people whose ancestry has been shrouded in mystery. However, through the efforts of Brent Kennedy and others, the veil of secrecy surrounding these proud people is being lifted and their unique heritage is being revealed.

The Melungeons are most likely the descendants of late 16th century Turks and Portuguese stranded on the Carolina shores when Sir France Drake liberated some 200 young Turks on the North Carolina coast when the settlement of Santa Elena, South Carolina was abandoned by the Spanish. They later intermarried with the Powhatan, Pamunkey, Chickahominy, and Catawba Indians. These two groups probably combined later, settled in the Appalachians and with further intermarriage with the Cherokees, and much later with the northern European settlers; primarily the Scotch-Irish, becoming part of the American Melting Pot. The word Melungeon is both Portuguese, and Turkish, meaning "cursed soul." Today, Melungeon descendants can be found among all racial and ethnic groups. Abraham Lincoln and Elvis Presley have probable Melungeon heritage through their maternal lines.

In association with Brent Kennedy, The National Melungeon Registry has been established by The Wise County Historical Society to collect, preserve and protect the heritage, history and genealogy of all individuals of Melungeon descent.

No history or genealogy of the Appalachian Mountains would be complete without the Melungeons. Therefore, each issue of The Appalachian Quarterly will feature a section dealing with Melungeon ancestry.

The magazine will feature, in each issue, articles by members of the Melungeon Research Committee covering the topics of linguistics, illnesses, history, etc. Feature articles will include the background history, the history of the Spanish settlements in Florida, the Moors, the Turks and their settlements and history.

We will keep you updated on the latest findings of the Research Committees, the speaking engagements of Dr. Brent Kennedy and any information pertaining to Melungeon research.

Not all the surnames appearing on the list at the end will be of Melungeon descent. However these are the surnames found to be most common amongst the Melungeons; surnames that have been "Angelicized" through the years. We all know, through our research, that the pronunciation and spelling of names undergo numerous changes from the original surname.

Even if your surname proves not to be of Melungeon descent, the Registry still provides an unprecedented opportunity to gather genealogical information on hundreds of thousands of descendants of the Southern Appalachians and to make that information available to the thousands who are tracing their family history.

Please complete this form as much as you can and return to us. If you have a group sheet you like better please use it

THE NATIONAL MELUNGEON REGISTRY

The People of the Mist

WHO ARE THE MELUNGEONS?

Like the mists that envelop the mountains the Melungeons are a people whose ancestry has been shrouded in mystery. However, through the efforts of Brent Kennedy, the veil of secrecy surrounding these proud people is being lifted and their unique heritage is being revealed.

The Melungeons are most likely the descendants of the late 16th century Turks and Portuguese stranded on the Carolina shores when the settlement of Santa Elena, South Carolina was abandoned by the Spanish. They later intermarried with the Powhatan, Pamunkey, Chickahominy, and Catawba Indians.

After being abandoned in the outlying Spanish forts, they settled in the Appalachians and further intermarried with the Cherokees and much later with the northern European settlers; primarily the Scotch-Irish, becoming part of the American Melting Pot.

The word Melungeon is both Portuguese, meaning "white person" and Turkish, meaning "cursed soul". Today, Melungeon descendants can be found among all racial and ethnic groups. Abraham Lincoln and Elvis Presley have probable Melungeon heritage through their maternal lines.

A WORD FROM BRENT KENNEDY

The Melungeon Registry is an enrollment archive intended to register Melungeon descendants and to provide a central site for coordinating Melungeon-related family research, activities and programs. While the Registry requires at least one "probable" Melungeon ancestor for membership, the true intent of the Registry is to unify registrants in community, civic, social, professional and spiritual arenas as opposed to a purely physical sense.

The Registry is not meant to be, nor will it be permitted to become, an exclusive "club" which will blatantly, subtly or unfairly exclude others or communicate an air of presumed ethnic or racial superiority.

Melungeon descendants can be found among all races and ethnic groups and ALL descendants are invited to seek enrollment with the Registry. All descendants of enrolled members are automatically eligible for enrollment.

Endnotes

Archibald and Vashti's ages are quite inconsistent in the census. Their birth dates are estimated. Archibald's LWT names all nine of the above children. They lived in Ashe Co .NC 1790 and 1800; but were also on tax lists in KY as early as 1794; were in 1810, 1820 KY Floyd Co. Census; in Hendricks Co. IN 1830, 1840, 1850. They are buried Jamestown IN

There were several Gibsons in Ashe Co. NC who appeared to be closely related...Archibald, Ezekiel and Zachariah, as well as Joel, Thomas and others. In the 1800 census Archibald, Ezekiel, Joel and Andrew were all counted as free persons of color. In addition, Zachariah was counted as a free person of color in Floyd Co. KY in 1820 - with a white wife and child under 10. (This Ezekiel is an older man — not Ezekiel the son of Archibald and Vashti.)

PEH said John was in KY 12 years. (Don't know how that can be.) James appears to be in both Hendricks Co. IN 1830 and Gonzales TX 1830. Has three females under 10 in IN.

Nancy's marriage bond signed by Archibald in KY

Archie Jr. was a noted Indian fighter in Texas. William may have been in Indiana as early as 1828. Elizabeth was a very large woman, known as Big Toe Bet. PEH reported that a special chair was made for her to sit in and she had to turn sideways to get through a door.

By way of demonstrating how difficult it is to figure Gibson ages from the census, Elizabeth reported that she was 30 years old in 1850. My great great grandmother Lucinda Jane also shaved 15 years off her age in 1850 and was married to her son-in-law's brother. I rather think in the case of Vashti and Archibald, they simply didn't bother to keep count. In 1810, Arch claimed to be under 45 and Vashti claimed to be under 26.

Two females in the Floyd Co. KY marriage records were thought to have been daughters of Archibald — Charity and Sally. Archibald signed Charity's marriage bond; which suggests that she was related somehow. She married William Branham 1816.
Sally Gibson was married 1828 — perhaps to a Henry Pratt; and may also have been related through the elder Ezekiel.

William B Gibson was born May 29, 1831 in Hendricks County, IN and in that county passed the days of his boyhood until nearly 21 years of age. He removed to Boone Co IN April 1st 1851 and purchased a farm in Jackson Twp, only 8 acres had been cleared and the farm was located in the midst of a swamp and the farm was finally drained after great trouble and expense.

grandson of Archebald & Vashti
s/o Elizabeth & J. Gibson

Until the breaking out of the great civil war he was coupled in the quiet pursuits of farm life but was among the first to respond to the call for volunteers.

He enlisted in Company A 51st Regt Indiana Volunteer Infantry on the 8th of October 1861 and served until Dec 16, 1864. He participated with his regiment with all its engagements except at such times as he was absent on detached duty. Perhaps the most important on which he took part was that of Murfreesboro TN with Col A D Streight on his famous raid through Alabama to George and was chosen as one of the company of 200 men of that raid to accompany Capt Russell on his advance into Rome GA. During the absence of this squad, the brigade was surprised by the enemy and surrendered. The confederates learned of the mission of this squad and started in pursuit overtaking them on their return to the brigade. All were then taken to Bell's Island and held as prisoners of war six of the number of whom was the subject of this sketch was taken to Libby Prison and put into chains for being scouts. Sixteen days later, however they were exchanged and were permitted to return to the union army.

December 16, 1864, Gibson was honorably discharged and upon his return, resumed the occupation of farming which he has continued to prosecute with marked success.

On the 16th day of June 1856 he was united in marriage with Miss Esther L Tipton of Montgomery Co IN. This union was blessed by two children. In February 1876 his wife died. On the 14th day of 1877 Mr Gibson was united in marriage with his present wife, Miss Nora Murphy of Hendricks County, IN.

Mr Gibson is one who throughout his life has enjoyed the warm friendship of all who have been associated. And his personal merits have been recognized by his fellow citizens in the polls.

In the fall of 1865 he was elected constable for Jackson Twp and in the spring of 1878 was elected as Justice of the Peace of which capacity he is now acting.

In his political preference he was formerly as identified with the Democratic party but for conscientious reasons, he withdrew from the party embracing Republican principle and is now prominently identified of the latter organization. He is a consistent member of the Methodist Episcople Church and also of the Knights of Pythias.

Also in the 1878 atlas on page 31 Boone Co there's a portrait of William B Gibson.

Upon checking the plat map within the Atlas, you can

William B Gibson was born May 29, 1831 in Hendricks County, IN and in that county passed the days of his boyhood until nearly 21 years of age. He removed to Boone Co IN April 1st 1851 and purchased a farm in Jackson Twp, only 8 acres had been cleared and the farm was located in the midst of a swamp and the farm was finally drained after great trouble and expense.

Until the breaking out of the great civil war he was occupied in the quiet pursuits of farm life but was among the first to respond to the call for volunteers.

He enlisted in Company A 51st Regt Indiana Volunteer Infantry on the 5th of October 1861 and served until Dec 16, 1864. He participated with his regiment with all its engagements except at such times as he was absent on detached duty. Perhaps the most important on which he took part was that of Murfreesboro TN with Col A D Streight on his famous raid through Alabama to George and was chosen as one of the company of 200 men of that raid to accompany Capt Russell on his advance into Rome GA. During the absence of this squad, the brigade was surprised by the enemy and surrendered. The confederates learned of the mission of this squad and started in pursuit overtaking them on their return to the brigade. All were then taken to Bell's Island and held as prisoners of war six of the number of whom was the subject of this sketch was taken to Libby Prison and put into chains for being scouts. Sixteen days later, however they were exchanged and were permitted to return to the union army.

December 16, 1864, Gibson was honorably discharged and upon his return, resumed the occupation of farming which he has continued to prosecute with marked success.

On the 16th day of June 1855 he was united in marriage with Miss Esther L Tipton of Montgomery Co IN. This union was blessed by two children. In February 1876 his wife died. On the 14th day of 1877 Mr Gibson was united in marriage with his present wife, Miss Nora Murphy of Hendricks County, IN.

Mr Gibson is one who throughout his life has enjoyed the warm friendship of all who have been associated. And his personal merits have been recognized by his fellow citizens in the polls.

In the fall of 1858 he was elected constable for Jackson Twp and in the spring of 1873 was elected as Justice of the Peace of which capacity he is now acting.

In his political preference he was formerly as identified with the Democratic party but for conscientious reasons, he withdrew from the party embracing Republican principle and is now prominently identified of the latter organization. He is a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and also of the Knights of Pythias.

A YEAR . . . 1816 WITHOUT A SUMMER

By NORMA CRAMER

THE YEAR 1816, when Indiana joined the union, is memorable for more than attaining statehood. The second week of June that year snowstorms of an inch to 19 inches covered 15 of the then 19 states and most of the territories. Before the hard-freezing week was over the 40th year of American independence had been labeled the "Year Without A Summer."

One-third of Indiana was at that time populated by more than 60,000 hardy pioneers. The remaining portion of its inhabitants were Indians (Miami, Delaware, and Potawatomi). All were affected by the unusual weather. The ponds and rivers froze every month that summer and the entire

A result of the monstrous problem was rampant inflation.

By late summer: Cheese, the main protein food of the nation had soared from 7 cents to 15 cents a pound; oats from 12 cents to 92 cents; wheat from an almost traditional 50 cents to $2.50 a bushel. Wages had shrunk. Able workers were delighted to labor three or four days for a bushel of wheat. Livestock prices fell from $8 a hundred-weight to $3 and $4.

Fishing and hunting were thought to be the last hope. Raccoon and groundhogs became acceptable meat. Easily trapped passenger pigeons were eaten in place of poultry. Inasmuch as

A YEAR . . . 1816 WITHOUT A SUMMER

By NORMA CRAMER

THE YEAR 1816, when Indiana joined the union, is memorable for more than attaining statehood. The second week of June that year snowstorms of an inch to 19 inches covered 15 of the then 19 states and most of the territories. Before the hard-freezing week was over the 40th year of American independence had been labeled the "Year Without A Summer."

One-third of Indiana was at that time populated by more than 60,000 hardy pioneers. The remaining portion of its inhabitants were Indians (Miami, Delaware, and Potawatomi). All were affected by the unusual weather. The ponds and rivers froze every month that summer and the entire year was an agricultural disaster. Pioneers and Indians, alike, depended largely upon crops. There were none.

There was also no welfare, no government storages of wheat and no foreign aid. They had only themselves to rely upon.

Twelve months earlier at least half of a dozen almanacs had forecast highly unusual weather for 1816. The Old New England Farmer's Almanack and Register gambled its reputation by predicting snow in July. Early editions brought jeers from prominent newspapers. Other almanacs joined in forecasting midsummer snows and frosts.

The first day of the year brought a sense of foreboding. New Year's Day from Maine (then Brunswick) to Annapolis, the 7 a.m. temperature was in the upper 40s. By 7 p.m. the mercury had dropped below zero. By morning it was 15 below zero.

The remaining portion of that month and the next were mostly mild and springlike in Indiana. The temperature was often so moderate that the warmth of fires was almost needless.

THE FIRST half of March was cold and blustery. Hoosiers, however, felt an upward turn for the last part. The mild weather continued into April and with it the normal beginning of plant growth. When ice and snow hit toward the end of the month, everything growing was brought to a frosty halt.

As the weather warmed slightly, farmers wearing their overcoats planted more spring crops. The thermometer plunged and the seedlings never had a chance to grow. In May Indiana had snow or sleet a total of 17 days.

When the June snow hit, it finished off the budding crops, left the remaining trees with blackened leaves and froze to death a great number of livestock.

One of the stories is about a farmer who went out to the hills to look after his sheep. It was June 17. As he left he shouted back to his wife to call out the neighbors because "I may get lost in the snow."

He was joking but it was 1816 and the weather wasn't. One hour later there was a terrific blizzard and on the third day the neighbors found the farmer — alive, but with both feet frozen.

The whole world was affected by the intemperate weather. In the states there were only 10 "weather observatories" but they were beginning to be relied upon more and more. According to the observatory records still available, the first four months of 1816 featured abrupt cold waves interspersed with unseasonable warm spells.

No crops grew north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and but scanty returns occurred much farther south.

In Indiana fruit trees were destroyed. Corn was killed and the fields replanted until it was deemed too late. In the spring of 1817, the corn Indiana farmers had kept over from 1815 sold for from $5-$10 a bushel for seed only.

JULY'S WEATHER was more of the same. The Hoosier 4th of July celebration was held in bitter weather. During the first week, the upper 1,000 miles of the nation had below freezing temperatures.

August was even worse — more snow, frosts and blizzards. Ice formed a half-inch thick over much of the United States.

A result of the monstrous problem was rampant inflation.

By late summer: Cheese, the main protein food of the nation had soared from 7 cents to 15 cents a pound; oats from 12 cents to 92 cents; wheat from an almost traditional 50 cents to $2.50 a bushel. Wages had shrunk. Able workers were delighted to labor three or four days for a bushel of wheat. Livestock prices fell from $8 a hundred-weight to $3 and $4.

Fishing and hunting were thought to be the last hope. Raccoon and groundhogs became acceptable meat. Easily trapped passenger pigeons were eaten in place of poultry. Inasmuch as many wild plants were more hardy than cultivated crops, some survived the cold and were eagerly gathered. Wild sweet potatoes, jack-in-the-pulpit bulbs and wild onions were at least something edible.

Why was 1816 so abnormal? This period belongs to that famous group of six years, 1812 to 1817, which were cold all over the world. There were, besides temperature variations, extreme dust storms, wind shifts, a reddish aura around the sun and sunspots.

One theory is that volcanic eruptions which had put dust into the upper atmosphere. There was an eruption of Soufriere, St. Vincent, April 30, 1812, one in Mayon, Luzon, 1814, and an extremely devastating expulsion in Tamboro, Sumbawa, April 7 to 12, 1815.

This great eruption was estimated to have put 37 to 100 cubic miles of dust, ashes and cinders into the atmosphere. Some 60,000 people lost their lives. For three days it was dark for a distance of 300 miles and the explosions were heard at a distance of nearly a 1,000 miles.

For whatever reason, this period in our history was a trying time for our ancestors. It was the year Americans would not flee, panic or be trampled under; a year they would not give in, the "Year Without a Summer."

HIT-AND-RUN VICTIM?

Autopsy Reveals Man Found On Highway Was Hit By Vehicle

STAR STATE REPORT

Hardinsburg, Ind. — A southern Indiana man whose body was found early Sunday morning near his parked car on U.S. 150 just east of the Hoosier National Forest may have been the victim of a hit-and-run accident, state police said.

No leads or suspects were reported in the mysterious death of Alan W. Criswell, 22, who lived at nearby Palmyra.

Sgt. Charles Maxwell, a homicide detective at the Sellersburg state police post, discovered Criswell's body about 5:40 a.m. Maxwell spotted the body in the "travel portion" of the eastbound lane as he drove to work.

Criswell's car, a 1978 Fiat convertible, was stopped in the middle of the highway about one half-mile east of this small town in Washington County. His body was sprawled outside the vehicle.

An initial examination of Criswell's massive head injuries led Maxwell to believe that the victim died from gunshot wounds or a severe beating.

"It looked like one of those television type murders at first," a state police spokesman said. "We pursued it as a criminal investigation."

day afternoon at Washington County Memorial Hospital indicated the victim had been run over by another vehicle. The case was turned over to Traffic Sgt. Ken Spencer.

A state police investigator said Criswell may have been examining "something in the area of the vehicle's left front tire" when he was struck on top of the head by an oncoming vehicle in the westbound lane of the highway.

But with no leads and no witnesses to the accident, state police say the case will be difficult to solve. Criswell was believed bound for home when he was killed, but it was not immediately known where he had been. Born in Louisville, Ky., Criswell lived in the Palmyra area in Harrison County 20 years. He graduated from North Harrison High School in 1976 and worked two years for Robbeloth Casemans Associates, a Martinsburg-based cabinetmaking operation.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Love Funeral Home, Palmyra, where friends may call after 7 p.m. today.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Criswell; a sister, Miss Janice

STALKING THE ENVIRONMENTAL MYTHS

By DR. JOHN J. McKETTA

IT BOTHERS me that there are so many purveyors of gloom who talk about the hopelessness of our future.

There is an entire spectrum, from zero to infinity, of views and actions on almost any problem. Let's take the pollution problem, for example. We all know there are still some companies and cities that put toxic gases and liquids into our air and streams. It's almost unbelievable that many of our large cities still discharge raw sewage, or only partially treated sewage into our streams. Both industry and the cities should be stopped immediately from these flagrant violations. On the other extreme are people who wish to have distilled water in the streams and zero particulates in the atmosphere. These are impossible concentrations and could not be attained even if there no people on this earth. The answer, obviously, is somewhere between these two extremes.

I believe we still have a great deal of environmental work to do in the USA. I believe, however, that extremism is bad on either end.

We're all deeply concerned about reports of the destruction of our environment as a result of technological recklessness, overpopulation and the lack of consideration to the preservation of nature. As chairman of the National Air Quality Commission I have to read of technical literature in this area, and I've turned up a lot of evidence that I'd like to share with you.

Some of the facts I will mention may be surprising, but my conclusions are supported by evidence that is difficult to interpret in any other way.

This article is excerpted from a talk given by Dr. John J. McKetta. He is a professor in the department of chemical engineering at the University of Texas and one of the founders of the Council for Environmental Balance with headquarters in Louisville, Ky.

MY FIRST surprise concerns the air we breathe. You have been reading that we are seriously depleting the oxygen in the atmosphere and replacing it with toxic substances such as carbon monoxide.

Throughout my formal education I was taught that oxygen in the atmosphere is supplied by green plants using the process of photosynthesis. It is known that plants take in carbon dioxide and, through activation by sunlight, combine carbon dioxide with water to make starches and cellulose, and give off oxygen. In this way the whole chain of plant and animal life is sustained by energy from the sun. When the vegetable or animal materials thus produced are eaten, burned or allowed to decay they combine with oxygen and return to the carbon dioxide and water from whence they came. We all know this. Then, what is the surprise?

Surprise number one is that most of the oxygen in the atmosphere doesn't come from photosynthesis. The evidence is now overwhelming that photosynthesis is inadequate to have produced the amount of oxygen present in the atmosphere. The amount of oxygen produced by photosynthesis is just exactly enough to convert the plant tissue back to the carbon dioxide and water from which it came. In other words, the net gain in oxygen due to photosynthesis is extremely

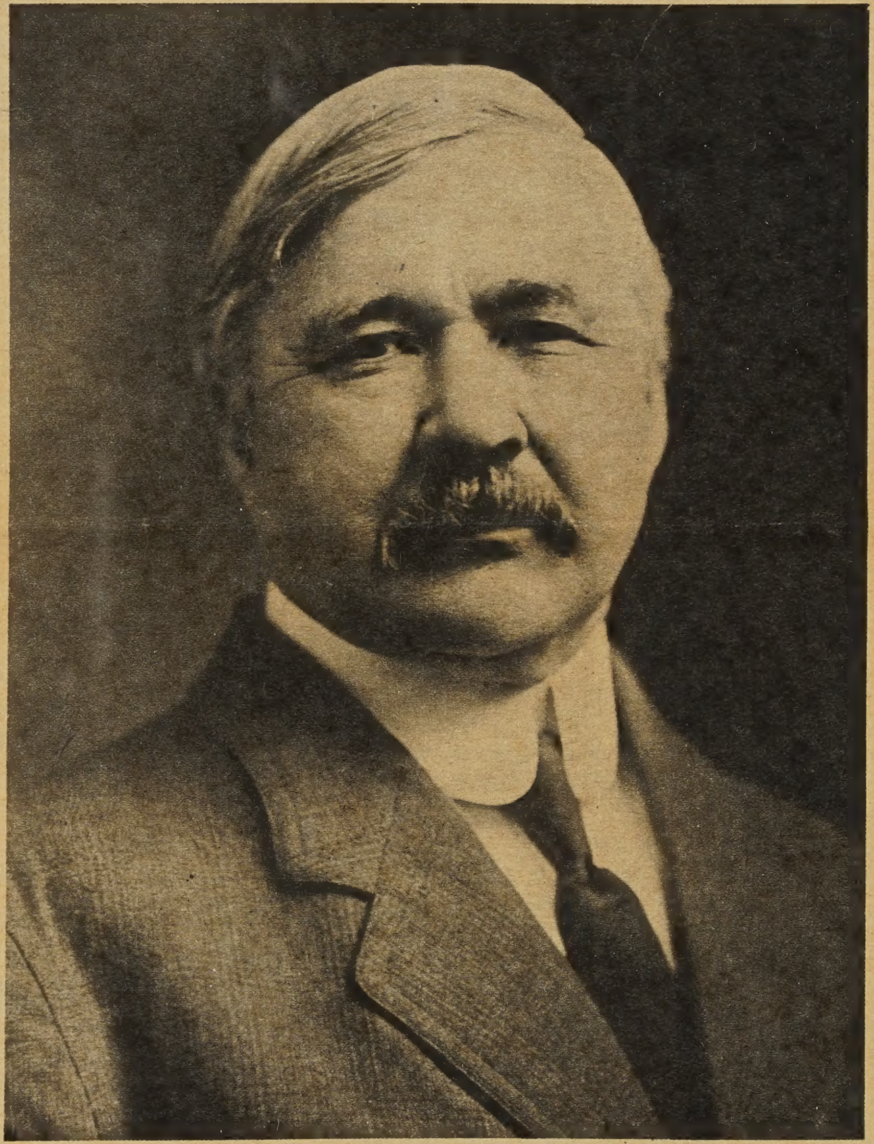
ELWOOD HAYNES:

Inventive Genius Who Lacked The Tycoon's Instinct

By RICK JOHNSON



WHEN ELWOOD Haynes' first automobile ran satisfactorily, July 4, 1894, he was content that his personal transportation needs were solved and he would be able to rest his horses.

Following his discovery of the wonder alloy, Stellite, in 1906, and a short time later his creation of stainless steel, he glowed with satisfaction because he had formed materials suitable for durable, keen edged, non-tarnishing cutlery for his kitchen and a silverware substitute for his dining table.

He also built the first automobile carburetor and muffler and before these he invented a functioning household thermostat and a gas meter, but he neither patented nor profited from the inventions.

Of all Haynes' achievements, only Stellite became personally profitable for him to any degree and his metallurgical contributions never won him the fame which came to him because of his automobile.

Haynes possessed creative genius, daring, courage and patience while pursuing new methods or ideas. However, once he satisfied himself, it was as though his mind wearied of the chase. He put forth slight effort to reap rewards from his discoveries.

Haynes, for instance, failed to imagine that every man would want to own a car. Instead, he concentrated on the production of relatively few well engineered, durable cars, over which he or his designates retained rigid quality control.

Stainless steel is known to everyone and used in hundreds of products. This alone could have made Haynes a fortune. But he received only modest royalties and profits from his discovery.

Stellite, a more exotic compound, was used largely in industry as a tool steel. During World War I it was used to greatly increase metal cutting speed as part of war-time production demands.

With Stellite, Haynes was more alert. He recognized its potential and, because of this, this invention created considerable wealth for Haynes and his heirs.

AND SO, instead of becoming one of the giants of American invention and enterprise, Haynes became merely the man whose discoveries helped spark a new era for others. As one historian notes, his automobile set off a chain of events, many of which left Haynes a bewildered bystander. Using his ideas, other men blended in their own and accomplished revolution within the social and economic order.

Mass production of automobiles led to mass production of hundreds of products.

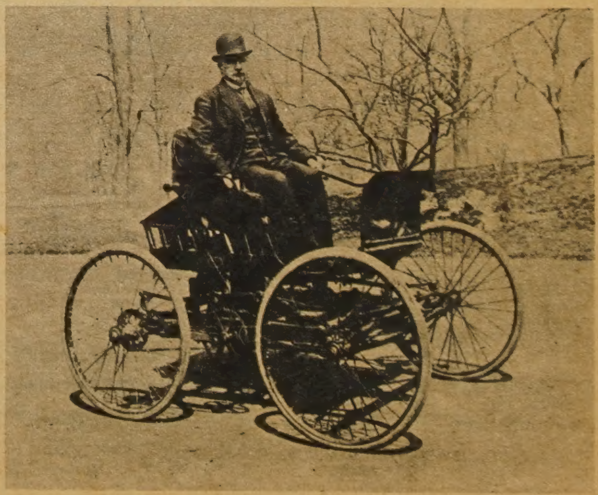
But Haynes, and his auto company, were gone.

The firm went into receivership in September, 1924, and in February, 1925, the last car was assembled and the plant padlocked. Built between 1894 and 1925 had been slightly more than 75,000 cars.

Barely a month after his company died, so did Haynes.

The peculiar character of the Kokomo inventor had sparked the interest of Dr. Ralph Gray, history professor at Indiana-Purdue University, Indianapolis. Since 1967, when he taught at the I.U.

Elwood Haynes, in his first horseless carriage (right), failed to profit from many of his inventions, like stainless steel and a home thermostat.



December 10, 1989

Dear Cousin Marian:

I have known that we had relatives in Indiana, but had no idea where. I can remember very well when quite young (6-8 yrs) having visitors from Indiana. I guess the reason I remember it so well they were driving a big black Cadillac (I think) and we were still in the horse + buggy stage. My dad never could learn to drive. He definitely was not mechanicaly minded. Thinking back I am very sorry I didn't know because we have had motor homes for years and have crossed Indiana many times.

My folks had a fruit farm and never talked about anything but fruit (never relatives) in my younger days. In fact I never knew my regional campus at Kokomo, Dr. Gray has been investigating the life of Haynes. The result has been a revealing booklet and a biography is next in Dr. Gray's plans.

Says Dr. Gray of Haynes: "He was a pleasant, soft, easy going man and he liked a joke. He was something of a prude but he loved to tell stories in dialect. He never smoked, drank or played cards. When he was not working in his lab he devoted his time to various scientific societies, writing several papers for them. He devoted time to the YMCA and the First Presbyterian Church, where he was an elder 30 years. His wife, Bertha, was the church organist.

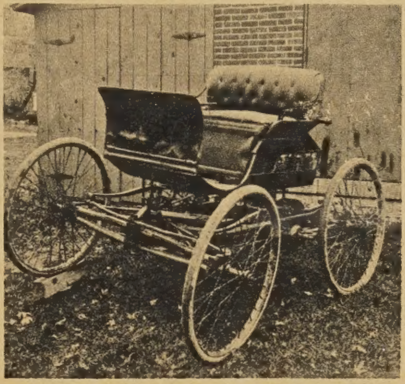
"Haynes was an excellent teacher and public speaker and he liked to draw or use apparatus to illustrate points while he lectured. In that sense, he was a pioneer in visual aids," Dr. Gray notes. "Many of his drawings were of animals. He did many such drawings for children, with whom he was particularly warm. He had no enemies but there were people who laughed at him a good deal behind his back.

"HE WAS A genius, but an amateur who time had passed by. There were many at the Haynes Stellite company, after he sold out to Union Carbide, who laughed at him because he did not recognize the potential of his own creation. While they continued to expand the uses of Stellite, Haynes puttered about in the lab in an attempt to make Stellite into an attractive mounting for diamonds.

"Haynes possessed great instincts and curiosity up to a point. He was not a good businessman. He did not become intimately involved with either the production of his car or of Stellite. He was interested and proud of the achievements but he preferred to turn the day-to-day operations over to other people and putter around in his laboratory.

"He talked very little about his laboratory work but he did write several papers regarding his experiments. They are very clear and well written and do not contain scientific jargon. They are brief and none of the papers make any extraordinary claims regarding his discoveries. They are clearly the work of an amateur, however, dedicated and methodical, but the work of an amateur nonetheless.

"It is unfortunate that we do not have first hand, day-to-day accounts of his many experiments and his aims for those experiments," Dr. Gray said.



It was in this Kokomo cottage (above) that Haynes built the first automobile (left photo) in 1893. The car was housed in the shack behind the house.

"We know practicality was basic to his nature. Many of his experiments were motivated by personal needs. Not long after he was married, for example, he began experimenting with alloys for stainless, keen edged cutlery. But this was not a concentrated effort. Too much of his time was consumed with his duties at the gas company and with designing and building his car.

"Once the car got underway, other needs emerged. He was the first to use aluminum in an engine when he alloyed copper and aluminum to make crankcases, which drastically reduced the weight of the engine. He used nickel, steel and other alloys for key pieces of running gear which were subjected to extreme stresses and wear," Dr. Gray points out.

Stellite, an alloy of cobalt, nickel and chromium, was an incredibly hard material of the age, impervious to rust and corrosion and heat resistant as well. The alloy also took a keen edge. Later Haynes added tungsten and molybdenum to the compound which increased the metal's hardness dramatically.

In 1910 he prepared a paper for presentation to the conference of the American Chemical Society at San Francisco entitled Alloys of Nickel and Cobalt with Chromium, which made public his discovery of Stellite.

He told the conference that although such items as chisels and lathe tools had been formed from the metal, he did not recommend the material for tool use. He talked instead of such items as kitchen knives, pocket knives which would always look new, surgical instruments and laboratory equipment which would never tarnish, rust or corrode, items of distinct utility and worth to Haynes.

FOLLOWING presentation of the paper and newspaper articles which further publicized his discovery, he received a series of requests to purchase Stellite but he was not prepared to produce the new alloy in quantity and he made no rush to do so.

According to Dr. Gray, it was 1912 before Haynes built a small plant in which he could make Stellite on a meager production basis. The tiny factory grossed $7,000 in 1913, $11,000 in 1914 and $48,000 in 1915. Stellite was profitable. In 1915, Haynes, with his banker, Richard Ruddell, and Ruddell's son-in-law, James C. Patten, formed the Haynes Stellite Company with $50,000 capital. Patten took charge of the company and expansion began.

"Sales of the product soared," Dr. Gray says. "Monthly sales easily topped previous annual rates and between November, 1915, and November, 1916, $1 million worth of Stellite was sold."

American industry was then gearing for war time production and Stellite was to play a vital role in the war effort. The company grossed another million dollars in 1917 and during 1918 recorded $3.8 million in sales. Sales dropped about a third during the next two years but Stellite remained profitable.

During May, 1918, Henry M. Leland of the Lincoln Motor Company, ordered 300 pieces of Stellite from Haynes and the order noted the urgency of his need: "Now Mr. Haynes, allow me to explain that we are trying to machine 850 steel cylinders for Liberty Aeroplane engines daily. We have to take heavy cuts off these forgings and the steel is so hard it is impossible for us to get high speed steel that will stand the work.

"As you probably know by reading the papers, it would be difficult to conceive how any greater pressure could be exerted in regard to any product than that which is being pressed upon us to get out quantities of the Liberty Motors.

"We have found that this stellite (sic) is very superior to the high speed steel or anything else that we have found. We can and will furnish you with a Priority A certificate if you require it and it will help matters. We are confident that the authorities in Washington will tell you there is no other government work that ranks ahead of this in importance."

STELLITE found its way into machines which greatly stepped up the production of artillery shells. The alloy was also used to make surgical instruments and reflecting mirrors in telescopes. Stainless steel was used extensively for exhaust valves in a variety of internal combustion engines. The light, strong, rustless metal also replaced conventional wire in struts and bracing on many World War I biplanes. Stainless steel also began to appear in saws, chisels, hatchets and many other products.

Variations of Stellite also played a crucial role during World War II. Bomber engine turbine blades, used in turbochargers, were mass produced using heat resistant Stellite. During the Korean War, the alloy was used in the production of turbine blades and vanes in jet engines. Throughout the aerospace program Stellite alloys filled dozens of roles. The Allison Division of General Motors Corporation used more than 20 Stellite parts in its T-63 helicopter engine and dozens of other uses for the metal were discovered.

The Stellite Division of the Cabot Corporation continues to produce alloys used in nuclear, chemical, electronic and transportation industries.

Haynes' combined personal income for 1918, from the car sales, from Stellite and one manufacturing subsidiary, topped $1 million. The tremendous wealth, Dr. Gray discovered, bared another facet of his character. Haynes balked at a suggestion that he pay his workmen a bonus and thereby avoid paying an excess profits tax.

"It doesn't pay to give the workingman too much money — it makes him independent," Haynes said. As a result he paid Federal income tax for 1918 of $500,000.

During early 1919 the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation began negotiations to acquire the Haynes Stellite Company. An offer of $3.5 million was made but the deal stalled because an excess profits tax, imposed during the war, meant that 80 per cent of all funds realized above the original $50,000 capitalization would be taxed.

Haynes and his partners went ahead with plant expansion and began to make Stellite tableware, pocket knives, cutlery and jewelry in addition to tool steel.

and Haynes Stellite was engineered which managed to avoid the exorbitant taxation. Haynes received 25,000 shares of Union Carbide stock in exchange for his Stellite interests while Ruddell and Patten split 12,500 shares. Union Carbide also made an undisclosed cash payment to the trio.

Between the time of the stock transfer and Haynes' death, Dr. Gray says, he received more than $500,000 in dividends. Nearly all of it was devoured by his moribund automobile manufacturing firm.

Production of the Haynes car never had been high. The peak in 1916 was 7,100 cars. By 1924 construction had fallen to 1,400 units.

Dr. Gray found Haynes' manager, A.G. Seiberling, was pushing for a new, smaller car and more modern assembly techniques at the time the firm's failure loomed, but the ideas were throttled by members of the Haynes family.

"Another thing which speeded the failure of the auto building was the premature purchase and stock piling of excessive amounts of high cost materials," Dr. Gray says.

"During the years between the time he relinquished control of Haynes Stellite and the time of his death, April 13, 1925, he recorded nothing in the way of further metallurgical or mechanical breakthroughs," Dr. Gray adds. "He did spend time in the plant laboratory conducting experiments. As he puttered about, the methodical, strictly scientifc technicians watched him and laughed at his seat-of-the-pants approach to problems and experiments.

"They had very little respect for him, even though he was usually right in his beliefs and achievements. They of course were busy working out methods to coat internal combustion engine valves and valve seats with Stellite to make them heat and wear resistant. They were also working out methods of bonding Stellite to a variety of strong base metals for use on such objects as the tail skids on airplanes, earth moving blades, plowshares, grader teeth, drills and the bits used in drilling oil wells and a variety of other uses.

"Haynes had become sort of a totem at Kokomo by this time," Dr. Gray observes. "He was the town's first citizen, frequently honored and much looked up to by the town folks. He was present at the July 4, 1922, ceremonies when a monument was erected to commemorate his first ride and he reveled in the recognition.

"Other activities in that five year period included work as a member of the State School Board. He took that job seriously and it consumed a lot of his time. He worked very hard in Indiana and before the legislature and Congress to have the metric system adopted. In that sense, again, he was far ahead of his time. The rest of his time was consumed trying to find financing for his sick auto manufacturing plant and with working to preserve his patents on Stellite which were being challenged in the courts," Dr. Gray says.

INFLUENZA and heart failure officially killed Haynes, but Dr. Gray is convinced his death was directly related to the financial failure of the Haynes automobile.

"He was such a robust man, seldom ill. He began to fail rapidly when the auto firm went into receivership. That car was his entire life and when it died I believe he did, too," Dr. Gray explains.

Strong support for Dr. Gray's belief comes from a statement Haynes made in 1918: "We are agreed to putting only the best into the Haynes. Make it a whole car, a complete machine, all the parts of which work efficiently.

"You see the Haynes is not a commercial proposition with me — it is my contribution, as a man, to the great work of the world. It means to me what the phonograph means to Edison and the steamboat to Fulton. The Haynes car is my life."

Haynes was born October 14, 1857, the fifth child of eight born to Judge Jacob M. and Hilinda Haynes, at Portland, the county seat of Jay County. Young Haynes finished the eighth grade at Portland, the highest schooling then available there, and went to work. He worked on the family farm, hauled gravel for the construction of a railroad bed and was sexton at the Portland Presbyterian Church. His nickname was Wood.

Dr. Gray says a book, Principles and Application of Chemistry written by David A. Wells in 1858, was given Haynes at 14 by a sister who was attending college.

"He became fascinated by chemistry," Dr. Gray says, "especially the sections which related to metallurgy." Haynes frequently scoured the town for broken pewter spoons and other metal objects so he could melt them in a tiny furnace he built. Explosions occurred more than once.

To keep the furnace charged with air, Elwood rigged up a blower which his friends cranked. With his friends cranking the furnace blower he was able to melt brass, cast-iron and high carbon steel by the time he was 15.

"I'M convinced," Dr. Gray said, "that it was the chemistry book which greatly influenced him during this period. This was the time when he began to dream and build for his future."

Although he was nearly 19 years old, in 1876, Haynes ignored the jeers of younger pupils and the raised eyebrows of his family members and returned to school. The Portland school system, not long before, had added two years of high school to its curriculum and Haynes had no trouble with the work. When he completed two years, a third year was added to the curriculum but he chose instead to enroll in the Worcester County Free School of Industrial Science at Worcester, Mass.

Dr. Gray reports that as eager, dedicated and interested as Haynes was, the poor quality of his basic education nearly proved a disaster. "He was required to have an average of 60 in order to enroll for the second semester but could manage only 59.2. He was permitted to remain in school because of recent progress. His work improved the following semester, and during the next two years. When he graduated he ranked near the middle of his class."

"He was a popular member of his class, served as class president during the fall term of his second year and he wrote the words and music for the class song at graduation," Dr. Gray reports.

During his senior year Haynes wrote a thesis titled The Effect of Tungsten upon Iron and Steel which was his first scientific discovery. He was one of the first persons to create tungsten steel and he made at least one razor for himself and another for one of his professors from the alloy. About this same time he began to probe the effect of chromium on tungsten steel but he was prevented from concluding that probe because chromium was not included in his initial thesis proposal, Dr. Gray says.

Haynes, however, would not forget. The idea one day would be expanded. It was the addition of tungsten to the cobalt, chromium alloy which transformed Stellite into the tool metal. Haynes' later exploration of the old idea was also the basis of his discovery that the addition of quantities of chromium to steel makes it stainless.

THE FIRST year after graduation Haynes taught in the Jay County District Schools. The next year he moved into the Portland High School, which was then offering a four year curriculum. He served as principal and teacher for two years at Portland, then enrolled for post-graduate work in chemistry at Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, Md., for the 1884-85 school year. The death of his mother during May, 1885, brought him back to Portland. He did not return to Baltimore because he was not granted a fellowship there. He took a job as science professor at the newly established Eastern Indiana Normal School at Portland.

Dr. Gray said Haynes was extraordinarily popular and successful as a teacher. He not only knew his subject thoroughly but his enthusiasm as a teacher was infectious.

Haynes later credited that one year of study at Johns Hopkins with his success at metallurgy. While attending Johns Hopkins, Haynes frequently had visited manufacturing concerns where he observed on-the-job procedures. While at the normal school he continued to visit manufacturing firms.

"It was by chance," Dr. Gray points out," that Haynes left the academic environment." That chance was the discovery of natural gas in Portland. During March, 1886, the first commercial gas well in the state was drilled. Haynes was able to provide much needed technical knowledge during the drilling operations. When a company was formed to supply natural gas to the city, Haynes was asked to become the firm's superintendent.

He worked at the job four years and guided the drilling of several wells and the installation of the Portland city gas system. When the original wells were expended he directed drilling operations farther away from town and supervised the construction of the pipelines required to bring the natural gas into town.

His job required a great deal of travel by horse and buggy over the sand, gravel and frequently muddy roads. The travel was tiring for him but it was even more of a strain on his horses, which had to be rested frequently. First plans for a self-propelled vehicle took shape in his mind. Also during this period he designed meters to measure the flow of gas into customer's homes and he created a thermostat to regulate the temperature in gas-heated houses.

Both devices worked satisfactorily, according to Dr. Gray.

During October, 1887, after a courtship of more than 10 years, Haynes married Bertha B. Lanterman.

In 1890 Haynes left Portland and joined the Indiana Natural Gas and Oil Company, to assist building a pipeline from the natural gas fields of north-central Indiana to Chicago. He lived at Greentown in eastern Howard County where he supervised construction of two large pumping stations. They were to be part of the first long distance pipelines to transport gas under pressure.

This job forced Haynes to travel even more extensively and he revived his idea of creating a mechanically powered vehicle. During one construction delay he began working on the first drawings of his automobile. During December, 1892, he moved to Kokomo with his family to manage the gas company office there. Once things were running smoothly he resumed work on the automobile drawings and specifications and completed them in 1893.

Eventually he contracted with Edgar and Elmer Apperson, who owned the Riverside Machine Shop at Kokomo, to build his creation. They agreed to do as Haynes asked, in their spare time and only then if he promised to pay their labor costs of 40 cents an hour. The Haynes car, later to be called the Pioneer, was constructed between approximately December, 1893, and July, 1894.

From those moments on July 4, 1894 when the one cylinder Sintz engine, grumbling, growling and spewing smoke, pushed the Pioneer along Pumpkin Vine Pike, Haynes' place in history was assured. It would not matter that during the previous fall, J. Frank Duryea tested, though not as successfully, the first motor car.

Haynes home in Kokomo is now a museum. In the inventor's later years he became the community's No. 1 citizen.

Willkie's '40 Speech Put Elwood On Map

FORTY YEARS AGO yesterday was a memorable day in Indiana and one they never will forget in the town of Elwood.

On that Sunday afternoon, Elwood's most famous son, Wendell Willkie, made his acceptance speech after receiving the Republican Party's nomination for President of the United States.

More than 215,000 persons formed what was the largest crowd ever to assemble in the state up to that time.

The political parties did things a little different in those days.

Instead of making his acceptance speech at the Philadelphia convention that nominated him on the sixth ballot June 27, 1940, Willkie waited six weeks to make the most important address of his life in the friendly surroundings of his hometown.

The event was preceded by a degree of hoopla, excitement and press coverage never before seen in Indiana.

For several weeks before Aug. 17, the nation's newspapers were filled with reams of stories concerning "The Willkie notification and acceptance ceremonies," as they officially were called.

EVERYONE WHO ever knew Willkie, including his schoolteachers, army buddies, and members of his debating team at Indiana University were interviewed in detail or asked to write lengthy articles about the man who might be the next president.

The saturation coverage given Willkie's life in 1940 even included one story that included the information that "Immediatly upon his birth, Wendell was placed in Mrs. Kidwell's hands while the doctor busied himself with Mrs. Willkie."

There also were exhaustive articles on Willkie's days at Elwood High School where he was senior class president, on how he entered I.U. at age 15 and became an excellent debator, on his days as a first lieutenant in France during the World War (it wasn't called World War I then because we hadn't had II yet) and how as a Wall Street lawyer he authored an article for Fortune Magazine entitled "We The People" that brought him to the Republican convention as a dark horse.

As the big day approached, the quiet town of Elwood and its 10,000 residents prepared for the onslaught of visitors. A young reporter for the Indianapolis Star named Robert Early described it this way.

"ELWOOD IS BEING converted into a city of waving flags, stately arches and towering columns. Willkie's acceptance speech will be delivered in a setting that has never been approached in beauty or simplicity by any previous acceptance speech."

Callaway Park, virgin timberland when Willkie was a boy, was chosen as the site for the speech. A stage, 199 feet wide and "tiered upward to form a court of honor for 1,000 Republican senators, governors, mayors and other guests," was erected.

While 35,000 chairs were set up in the park, a new water main installed for the thirsty throng expected and the streets decorated with thousands of posters and banners, the rest of the nation also was getting excited about Willkie.

Al Smith, the 1928 Democrat nominee for president, came out in support of the GOP candidate but that was nothing compared to Mrs. Earl Smith of Carthage, Tenn. She named her twin sons Wendell and Willkie Smith.

Then there was Nicholas A. Bauer of Indianapolis who wrote the words and music to the official song for the day. He titled it "Our Indiana Man." The song ended with the words, "So, we'll be back in clover . . . when the vote and count is over . . . with our Indiana man."

EVEN DEMOCRATS in Indiana got caught up in the mood of state pride.

Indiana's U.S. senator, Frederick Van Nuys, came out with a strong defense of Willkie when another Democrat, Sen. Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania, launched a curious attack on the GOP standard bearer just a few days before the acceptance speech.

Guffey charged on the senate floor that Willkie had been born and baptized "Lewis Wendel Wilkus" and had secretly and diabolically changed his name.

Van Nuys pointed out this simply wasn't true because Willkie's parents both were well-known lawyers and his mother was, in fact, the first woman admitted to the Indiana bar. And besides, Van Nuys wondered, what the hell difference did it make what his name was?

A couple of days before the speech, Elwood citizens "burned with indignation" over a national magazine article that referred to Willkie's birthplace as "a hick town where boys and girls spike their soft drinks with whiskey while planning to go to the Baptist Sunday school the next morning."

IN INDIANAPOLIS a special train was arranged to carry local Republicans to Elwood and back. Cost of the round trip was $2.70 and included food and musical entertainment en route.

An estimated 40,000 persons made the trip from Indianapolis to Elwood by car or train that day.

August 17 finally arrived hot and humid.

WILLKIE PARADED THROUGH JAMMED STREETS OF ELWOOD
Straw Hat-Waving Nominee Was Making His Way To Park

The first to feel the heat were the 1,000 or so Hoosiers who slept in the park to be sure of getting a good view of the first Indiana man to run for the presidency since Benjamin Harrison was defeated for re-election in 1892.

As Willkie made his way to Elwood in a 53-car motorcade from Rushville, where he owned five hog and corn farms and was regarded as a favorite son-in-law after marrying local librarian Edith Wilk, the crowd and the temperature in the park grew steadily.

By the time Willkie began to speak at 3 p.m. the temperature was nudging 102 degrees.

IN THE PRESS section, the likes of H.L. Mencken and Damon Runyan took notes while people began dropping in the scorching sun. Willkie talked for one hour and drank some water and talked for another half-hour. Before he was done, 350 persons had to be treated for heat prostration.

The air battle over Britain was raging as Willkie spoke and American involvement in a foreign war seemed inevitable to many.

Willkie did not avoid the issue and came out unequivocally for the conscription of young men in order to build a strong American army.

He called for "toil and sweat to restore prosperity" and added he would "not hesitate to stand for war," but said he wanted peace. He challenged incumbent President Franklin D. Roosevelt to debate him and was interrupted by cheering and applause no less than 70 times.

The speech was reported widely as "one that made politcal history."

Well, maybe it is not remembered as such today, but the New York Times the next day gave perhaps a good assessment when it said "Willkie has met the test of a great occasion with courage and candor and foresight that do him honor."

THIS DAY WAS to be the high point of Willkie's presidential effort. Throughout the campaign he repeated the themes he began in his acceptance speech. He taunted Roosevelt to debate him to no avail. He harped on the fact Roosevelt was the first President to seek a third term in office.

But, nothing worked. Nothing really caught the excitement of the people as it had that sizzling day in Elwood.

Willkie went down to defeat in the November election, capturing only 10 states and 92 electoral votes to Roosevelt's 38 states and 449 electoral votes.

Later, he made a trip overseas and used what he learned to write a best-selling book entitled "One World," which was a strong plea for international cooperation.

He also became a personal representative of Roosevelt during World War II, carrying letters to Marshal Josef Stalin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

This support of Roosevelt's war policies worked against Willkie when he tried again to capture the GOP presidential nomination in 1944. He was defeated in the Wisconsin primary and withdrew from the race.

Willkie died on Oct. 8, 1944 in New York City and was buried in East Hill Cemetery at Rushville. He is the last man from Indiana to gain the Republican or Democrat nomination for president.

Indiana Bell Employees Cancel Work Stoppage

The Indianapolis Star
MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1980

Nearly 100,000 Bell System telephone employees across the country walked off their jobs in contract disputes Sunday, but many — including about 50 who stopped work at Indiana Bell Telephone Co. — returned after only a few hours.

Workers in the Bell System accepted a nationwide contract last weekend. Issues negotiated at the regional level with Ma Bell's local systems reportedly led to the job actions.

Most of the nearly 100,000 telephone workers who left their jobs Sunday were from New York, California and parts of Nevada. Tentative agreements on issues in some systems and resumption of bargaining in others ended the work stoppages in many locations by nightfall.

MEMBERS OF the Communications Workers of America manned picket lines at Indiana Bell facilities in Indianapolis, South Bend, Bloomington and Evansville from shortly after midnight Sunday until about 5:30 a.m., according to Dennis McCabe, a company spokesman.

Thirty-five members of Bell management were used as telephone operators at the facilities, McCabe said. Normal service was maintained during the work stoppage, he said.

Employees were believed protesting local issues covered in their contract, including working conditions, schedules and overtime, McCabe said, but he refused to be more specific about the dispute.

An agreement with the Communications Workers of America, which affects 7,200 Bell workers in Indiana, was reached about 1 a.m. Sunday, according to McCabe.

A SEPARATE contract for 364 Communications Workers of America members who work for Western Electic Co. was not settled until about 5:30 a.m. Sunday, he added. Western Electric is the Bell System's manufacturing arm.

Indiana Bell resumes negotiations today with 600 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in Lake County. The electrical workers plan to strike Wednesday unless a settlement is reached, officials have said.

The New York walkout, involving 33,000 workers, ended when a tentative agreement was reached Sunday night. Employees in California and Nevada, numbering more than 66,000, began returning to their jobs as bargaining sessions resumed.

Pickets also were thrown up briefly early Sunday in Wisconsin and at several Western Electric Co. plant locations around the country, but later were withdrawn when a settlement was reached.

THE WALKOUTS should not affect local and long-distance dialing not requiring the help of an operator, but directory assistance in the San Francisco area was discontinued after talks broke down between Pacific Telephone Co. and the communications workers, a company spokesman said.

The disputes in California, New York and Nevada focused on job security.

The master (national) agreement between the Bell System and the communications workers union was reached Aug. 10. The contract affects 700,000 telephone workers.

The three-year pact contains a 10.4 percent wage increase for this year, plus additional increases of 10.5 percent in the second and third years, said Glenn Watts, president of the communications workers.

Stab Victim, 9, Off Hospital's Critical List

Simone Wells, the 9-year-old victim of a brutal stabbing attack in her home Thursday, has been removed from the critical list at St. Francis Hospital Center.

Her condition has been upgraded to serious but she remains in the intensive care unit, according to hospital officials.

The girl was stabbed at least nine times and kicked repeatedly when she interrupted an alleged burglary by a 14-year-old youth, police said. Both of her lungs were punctured in the attack.

The youth, Loren Lee Graham, has been charged with burglary and attempted murder in connection with the incident.

At the time of the attack, Graham was on probation after serving 30 days in the Marion County Juvenile Center on a theft-related conviction.

A steak knife believed to be the weapon used in the attack was recovered from the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil E. Coburn, Simone's parents.

HIT-AND-RUN VICTIM?

Autopsy Reveals Man Found On Highway Was Hit By Vehicle

STAR STATE REPORT

Hardinsburg, Ind. — A southern Indiana man whose body was found early Sunday morning near his parked car on U.S. 150 just east of the Hoosier National Forest may have been the victim of a hit-and-run accident, state police said.

No leads or suspects were reported in the mysterious death of Alan W. Criswell, 22, who lived at nearby Palmyra.

Sgt. Charles Maxwell, a homicide detective at the Sellersburg state police post, discovered Criswell's body about 5:40 a.m. Maxwell spotted the body in the "travel portion" of the eastbound lane as he drove to work.

Criswell's car, a 1978 Fiat convertible, was stopped in the middle of the highway about one half-mile east of this small town in Washington County. His body was sprawled outside the vehicle.

An initial examination of Criswell's massive head injuries led Maxwell to believe that the victim died from gunshot wounds or a severe beating.

"It looked like one of those television type murders at first," a state police spokesman said. "We pursued it as a criminal investigation."

However, an autopsy performed Sunday afternoon at Washington County Memorial Hospital indicated the victim had been run over by another vehicle. The case was turned over to Traffic Sgt. Ken Spencer.

A state police investigator said Criswell may have been examining "something in the area of the vehicle's left front tire" when he was struck on top of the head by an oncoming vehicle in the westbound lane of the highway.

But with no leads and no witnesses to the accident, state police say the case will be difficult to solve. Criswell was believed bound for home when he was killed, but it was not immediately known where he had been. Born in Louisville, Ky., Criswell lived in the Palmyra area in Harrison County 20 years. He graduated from North Harrison High School in 1976 and worked two years for Robbeloth Casemans Associates, a Martinsburg-based cabinetmaking operation.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Love Funeral Home, Palmyra, where friends may call after 7 p.m. today.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Criswell; a sister, Miss Janice Criswell, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman.

Rise In World Poverty Seen Unless Rich Nations Act Now

Washington (UPI) — The economic outlook for developing nations has worsened and global poverty is likely to increase in the 1980s unless governments around the world act wisely, the World Bank said Sunday.

In its third annual report on world development, the international lending organization estimated that this year 780 million persons throughout the world are living in "absolute poverty."

It described this as "a condition of life so characterized by malnutrition, illiteracy and disease as to be beneath any reasonable definition of human decency."

IN THE LAST two decades, the bank said, the proportion of people in absolute poverty in the developing countries has fallen — though probably not in sub-Saharan Africa during the last decade.

But because population has grown, the report said, the actual number of people in absolute poverty has been increasing.

Now, according to the bank, two major problems have worsened the outlook for development, which in turn affects the poverty level:

- World oil prices are expected to continue to rise in real terms during the 1980s. This will help the one-fifth of the developing world's population that lives in oil-exporting countries. But for the other four-fifths, living in oil-importing developing countries, it will mean large deficits in international payments.
- These countries must act to reduce these deficits at the very time the problems of inflation and recession are limiting the growth of industrial countries, thereby slowing their demand for goods the developing countries export.

The pace of development, the bank said, will depend on how well developing countries adjust to higher oil prices and reduce their payments deficits — and on the extent to which industrial and oil-exporting countries cooperate to make this possible.

The report projected two hypothetical outcomes:

- A "low case" in which few such efforts are made. Economies of oil-importing countries would grow slowly (about 1.8 percent per person a year) and in sub-Sahara Africa would decline. The number of persons in absolute poverty in the developing world would increase.
- A "high case" in which policies are successful. Oil-importing, developing economies could grow 2.4 percent per person per year during the first half of the 1980s and by 1990 there would be 80 million fewer persons in absolute poverty.

To achieve or improve the high case, the bank said, industrial countries will have to increase their imports from the developing world, among other things lowering trade barriers for textiles, clothing, leather goods, electronics, steel and some agricultural commodities.

Oil-exporting nations also can help by expanding their imports, the report said. Increased government aid and commercial capital will be needed from industrial nations and oil-exporters to aid development.

Within developing countries themselves, the report put heavy emphasis on "human development" through education, health and nutrition.

AT LEAST 600 million adults in developing countries are illiterate, the report said. A third of the primary school-age children in such countries (and nearly half of the girls) are not going to school.

Comparing the costs of schooling to the benefits in the form of subsequent higher incomes, primary education in poor countries brings rates of return as high as 27 percent, the report said — well above returns for physical investment.

Educating girls, it said, "may be one of the best investments a country can make in future economic growth and welfare" because it leads to big improvements in health and nutrition and a lower birth rate.

RUNS BUDGET COMMITTEE

Ex-Hoosier Politician A Newsman At Heart As He Works On Hill

THE STAR'S WASHINGTON BUREAU

Washington — He's been a newspaper reporter, an administrative assistant to a U.S. senator, a partner in a public relations firm and currently is executive director of the powerful House Budget Committee.

But deep down inside, former Hoosier Mace Broide still considers himself a journalist.

He loves government, politics and Capitol Hill. In fact, he missed the Hill so much he left his public relations partnership to look for another job in politics.

In March 1978, after 10 years in the public relations business, the former administrative assistant to Indiana Sen. R. Vance Hartke retired from that job and started looking for another Capitol Hill adventure. By June, Broide was executive director of the House Budget Committee.

AS COMMITTEE director, Broide runs a staff of experts in various fields. He says his staff probably has more kinds of expertise "than anywhere in Congress."

Since the budget is all-encompassing, he says, it touches on almost all legislation and all fields of jurisdiction.

Broide, 56, said his staff has experts in energy, agriculture, education, health and all other areas of programs in the government. He handles the administrative end of the staff and participates in some policy decisions.

The Budget Committee is responsible for molding the two budget resolutions, due in May and September, that the House must pass each session. The committee also is responsible for making sure compliance to budget rules is achieved.

BROIDE IS QUICK to correct a popular misconception about the Budget Committee. Most people, he said, think the committee spends the government's money. But the Appropriations Committee decides where and how much money will be spent, he said.

The Budget Committee, on the other hand, "develops a plan for revenues and spending and for enunciating a kind of fiscal policy of the government," Broide explained. The schedule of the entire Congress now revolves around the budget process, he added.

Born at Burlington, Vt., Broide moved to Indiana to attend Indiana University. But service in the Army during World War II came before he could finish his stay at I.U. After graduting from the I.U. School of Journalism, Broide moved to Evansville, where he took a job as a political reporter for the Evansville Press.

FOR 10 YEARS, Broide was a city desk reporter and then political editor for the Press. Covering the Indiana General Assembly and state conventions, he became attached to politics.

When Hartke was elected in 1958, Broide moved to Washington, D.C., as his administrative assistant. But after 10 years of Capitol Hill, Broide felt it was time to move on again.

He became a partner in the Washington-based public relations firm of DeHart and Broide. For 10 more years, he worked with such diverse accounts as Borden's, Coca-Cola, Recording Industry Association, Kansas City Southern Industries and Bristol Myers.

However, the yearn for politics returned. "I wanted to get back to the Hill," Broide confessed.

HE SAID he rarely gets back to Indiana, although he has many friends in the state.

Broide plans to be in Evansville Oct. 17 for a function at the Indiana State University campus at Evansville, where he will be executive in residence for a day and will lecture and answer questions about his position at Washington.

Of all the jobs Broide has undertaken, he said his favorite was being a newspaper reporter. "If I were reincarnated, I would want to be a political writer," he said.

Mount Vernon Man, 24, Killed In Cycle Accident At Evansville

STAR STATE REPORT

At least two persons lost their lives on Indiana roads over the weekend, including a 24-year-old Mount Vernon man who was killed Sunday when he lost control of his motorcycle on an Evansville street.

Police say William Eckert lost control of the vehicle and crashed about 2 a.m. as he tried to change lanes on uneven pavement near a railroad crossing.

A California woman died and 11 persons were injured about 6 p.m. Saturday in a four-car collision at the intersection of Ind. 22 and a Howard County road near Kokomo, police reported.

Police identified the victim as Veronica Chaon, 69, Modesto Calif., a passenger in one of the cars.

One of the cars traveling north on the county road was struck by a second car as it crossed Ind. 22 three miles west of Kokomo, authorities said.

The collision caused the second car to cross the center line, where it was struck head on by a third car in which Ms. Chaon was riding, police said. A fourth vehicle then ran into the back of the third car.

Perry Township Teachers To Vote On A Job Action

Perry Township teachers may vote to take a job action if agreement on a new contract has not been reached by Thursday, their first work day of the fall term, according to their spokesmen.

William J. Rawls, chief negotiator for the Perry Education Association, said Sunday a mass meeting of teachers was scheduled for 6 a.m. Thursday in Southport Presbyterian Church. Whether the potential job action would be an all-out strike will not be decided until the meeting, he added.

About half the 518 members of the union attended a rally Sunday and authorized their leaders to seek round-the-clock talks with school officials to try to reach accord before the start of school, Rawls said.

No new talks are scheduled between the union, which seeks an 11.8 percent pay increase, and the school system, which has offered 7.58 percent.

Parked Car Ripped By Four Blasts; 1 Killed, 8 Injured

Tel Aviv, Israel (UPI) — Four successive explosions ripped through a parked car in neighboring Jaffa Sunday, killing a woman and injuring eight other persons, two of them seriously, police and witnesses said.

Police said the blasts appeared to have been set by "underworld elements."

But in Damascus, Syria, the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine claimed responsibility for the explosions, saying the parked car was "near a rally point of Israeli soldiers."

Witnesses said they saw a man and a woman holding a 3-year-old child enter the car before the explosions went off. The blasts hurled the three occupants into the street and injured six other passers-by.

Paris Crossing Man Kills Wife, Self

STAR STATE REPORT

Paris Crossing, Ind. — A Paris Crossing woman and her estranged husband were found dead following a murder-suicide near this southern Jennings County community Sunday, police said.

Dola J. Gerkin, 40, R.R. 1, Paris Crossing, was killed about 4 p.m. following an argument in the front yard with her estranged husband, according to Indiana State Police at the Seymour post.

Bernard Gerkin, 47, was visiting his wife when an argument developed, police said.

Mrs. Gerkin went into her home and her husband went to his pickup truck, got a shotgun, and attempted to enter the rural home through the front door, according to police.

Mrs. Gerkin saw him coming with the shotgun and ran from the house, but he overtook her in the back yard and shot her in the back with the shotgun, state police said. Gerkin then turned the shotgun on himself, according to police.

The couple was in the process of arranging a divorce, police said.

Police Arrest 16 In Tavern Raids

Sixteen patrons were arrested in raids at six taverns between midnight and 3 a.m. Sunday by three law-enforcement divisions responding to reports of alcohol being sold to minors, authorities said.

Cooperating in the raids were the Indianapolis Police Department, Marion County Sheriff's Department and Indiana State Excise Police. Eleven persons were arrested in the Nite Flite Lounge, 3754 North Keystone Avenue, and five in Lucifer's, 8660 Bazaar Drive, all for violation of the 1935 Beverage Act, authorities said.

A 28-year-old man was arrested for assault and battery on a policeman, disorderly conduct and violation of the Controlled Substance Act after he kicked a policeman in the ankle during the arrests at the Nite Flite Lounge, police said. All but two, who were slated into Juvenile Court, were scheduled to appear today in Municipal Court, Room 5.

Capt. Mack Crockett of the IPD vice branch said the arrests will be brought to the attention of the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission so it can determine whether action should be taken against the taverns.

Surgery Not The Only Answer In Treatment Of Breast Cancer

By DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Dr. Steincrohn

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: Like so many other patients, I don't want to hurt my doctor's feelings. So, I'm in a dilemma. I'll have to decide on whether or not to call in consultation — or let him go ahead with his type of operation.

I have a lump in my breast. He says it feels like cancer, but he'll need to operate to find out.

If lab examination confirms it while I'm on the operating table, he says he will do the radical operation which means cutting through the muscles of my chest.

He doesn't believe in the new theory which says that such an extensive operation isn't necessary.

Naturally, my question to you is: What's the present state of feeling about operation for breast cancer? Don't you think I should get a second opinion before I agree to surgery? — Mrs. G.

DEAR MRS. G.: I'll answer your second query first. Without any hesitation, ask for consultation readily.

Now for the important first part of your question: type of operation? A recent meeting of expert surgeons from the U.S., France and Italy concluded that total mastectomy with dissection of the glands under the arm should be recognized as the current treatment standard.

Cutting the muscles isn't essential. They also agreed that it should be a two-step operation: first, biopsy (removal of lump for examination in the laboratory); then, after discussion with the patient, the operation itself is performed.

OTHER CONSIDERATION in treatment is the use of radiotherapy and/or chemotherapy.

For example, if the lymph nodes are abnormal, such drugs as melphalan and fluorouracil are used.

Let me repeat the point I have been trying to make, Mrs. G. When in doubt for any reason, never hesitate to call for consultation.

Remember that operations that were considered unquestionably correct some years ago, may require some modification.

In breast cancer therapy, for instance, there may be less need for extensive surgery that some surgeons claim borders on mutilation.

FOR MRS. B.: It is a clinical axiom that diabetic patients have a decreased resistance to infection. For this reason we warn such patients to overlook seemingly unimportant infections of their feet.

Until lately, diabetics have been considered to be prone to come down with pneumonia. A recent study indicated this is not true.

A review of thousands of diabetics who are in control of their disease, reveals they do not get pneumococcus pneumonia any more often than the general population. Only those with uncontrolled diabetes are more susceptible to infections.

FOR MRS. N.: Corneal transplant operation is not as rare as you believe. At least 10,000 corneal transplants are performed annually in this country. It is the most successful type of organ transplant operation.

If you take aspirin it's better to space it so you swallow it when your stomach contains food, says Dr. Steincrohn in his booklet, "How to Live With Arthritis." For a copy write him at The Indianapolis Star, P.O. Drawer D, Catonsville, Md. 21228, and enclose 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Steincrohn welcomes questions from readers. He cannot answer all individually but will include those of general interest in his column.

Iceland Volcano Eruption Sends Ash 15 Miles In Air

Reykjavik, Iceland (UPI) — A volcanic eruption, described by Icelandic officials as "enormous," hurled hot ash and smoke 15 miles into the sky Sunday, and lava threatened nearby towns.

The cloud of smoke and ash could be seen in Reykjavik, about 70 miles to the west.

The 4,747-foot-high Hekla volcano, erupted at 1:18 p.m. with a series of minor earthquakes jolting the island nation.

Officials could not determine the exact course of the steaming lava, but ash was falling on Akureyri, Iceland's second-largest town with a population of 14,000. The ash had already damaged houses and cars in the area.

There were no plans to evacuate Akureyri yet, but contingency plans were being readied.

The area immediately surrounding Hekla is inhabited mainly by farmers.

There is also a hydroelectric plant near the volcano and power from the facility was interrupted for about 20 minutes just after the eruption.

The plant provides all the power for the Alusuisse aluminum factory near Reykjavik.

The last serious eruption of Hekla was in 1947. There was a minor one in 1971.

Roller Coaster Crash Injures 5 At Denver

Denver (AP) — Five persons suffered minor injuries when a roller coaster train ran into the back of another train that had been stopped by a fallen tree limb at the Elitch Gardens amusement park at Denver, officials said.

Gary Sanford, manager of guest services at Elitch Gardens, said the accident occurred Saturday.

The first train pushed the fallen limb about 150 yards before stopping about two-thirds of the way around the loop, he said. Moments later, a second train hit the rear of the stopped cars.

Grandfathers name was Seth W. until I received your packet of Sept. 28th. Then after two days of sorting through old papers I found out he signed all business papers Seth W. but was known locally as William, even the death notice in the paper he was called William.

It is very easy to tell you have done a lot of work to get all the information on the Osborn family you sent me. So the only thing I will mention here is I have the original license to teach school issued on April 1st, 1868 to Sarah Richmyer whom I was told was my grandmother. She died about Feb. 1919.

This I don't imagine you will want to add it to your records but I was famous (In East Norwalk Only) Frederick Lowe, J. T. Hunt, and James Van Eaton were Commissioners. David Hoover was Clerk, Austin Davenport was Sheriff, William Delvin was Surveyor and George Walker, Coroner. The Sheriff collected the taxes, and did so until 1842. This was no easy job, as much of the tax was paid in skins. There were racoon furs for state and county tax and mink skins for change.

The first people to own land in what is now Jamestown, Sec. 10, Twp. 17N R2W, were as follows:

E½ of NE¼	80 acres	Martin Lewis	from U.S.	2-25-1830
W½ of NE¼	80 acres	James Gip(b)son	from U.S.	3-22-1831
E½ of NW¼	80 acres	William Dunbar	from U.S.	5-21-1832
W½ of NW¼	80 acres	William Dunbar	from U.S.	8-23-1832
E½ of SE¼	80 acres	Thomas Cashatt	from U.S.	7-19-1826
W½ of SE¼	80 acres	John Gibson	from U.S.	10-3-1828
E½ of SW¼	80 acres	Jacob Johns	from U.S.	2-25-1830
W½ of SW¼	80 acres	Jacob Johns	from U.S.	10-1-1830

It stated Jacob Johns was from Morgan County. All land was purchased through the Crawfordsville Land Office. An attempt has been made to find descendants of these original landowners. It was found that John Gibson, a son of Archibald and a founder of the town, married Elizabeth Hopper in Floyd County, Kentucky June 2, 1818. John was born in North Carolina, probably Wilkes County. Elizabeth died in 1846 and he married Maria Miller in 1848 in Montgomery County. By Elizabeth, John had Francis Marion, Matthew, Tempa, and George Washington. All of the children, except George Washington, went to Belle Flower, Illinois. George Washington had grandchildren by his daughter, Malvina, who are mentioned by Pierre Haynes as Mrs. W. H. O'Rear and Mrs. I. T. Davis of Lebanon. Archibald, John and Elizabeth are buried in the Lowry Cemetery. Several of Archibald's children came to this area. Among these were John, Ezekial, Jesse, Archie, James, William, Rachel and Elizabeth. Archibald and all children except John and James settled in Hendricks County. There are other descendants of Archibald in the area. These include the Helen Gibson Roult family, Maggie Gibson Henry family, and Clara Gibson Neff family. Archibald was probably a son of James Gibson of Bedford County, Virginia whose will was probated February 26, 1765. The only other original lands owners descendants I could trace were those of Jacob Johns. Jacob was born in Pennsylvania in 1776 and died December, 1850. His wife Rachel was born in Pennsylvania in 1780 and died c. 1855 at the home of her son, Joseph B. Johns. Jacob and Rachel, along with grandchildren Anna, daughter of Joseph B. Johns died c. 1851, Sarah R., daughter of Benjamin Johns, an infant girl Carter, are buried in Johns Cemetery at the southwest corner of First Street and Four Winds Drive. Gene Burk said when he was young and delivered papers it was a well-kept little cemetery. I remember the stones when I rabbit hunted. There are probably about ten people buried there. Jacob owned the southwest corner of Section 10. This would take in most of that part of Jamestown west of Darlington Street and south of Elm Street. Known descendants living in the area are the William Johns family, Mary K. Benge and Susan Hart Houk, all of who descend from his son Joseph B. Johns, who is buried at Mt. Zion Church. Jacob Johns was possibly a son of Jacob Johns of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania (1790 census) before coming to Indiana.

A question has been asked about Jamestown government, before it was incorporated in 1867. Besides the county officials, it operated under a township system, with a Justice of the Peace and other township officers.

Archibald Gibson - His Identity - Summarized (short version) (3-22-98)

This is a summary of the circumstantial evidence that Archibald Gibson's family came from southern Virginia and may possibly have mixed Cherokee, Spanish and British Bahamian blood.

SOURCES

Research and family records of my uncle Pierre E. Haynes. (1865-1951) He was a scientist and national authority on rare gases in the 1920's to 1940's.

My own research with the help of genealogical researchers (CGRS), certified genealogists (CG): public records in PA, VA, NC, KY and IN such as censuses, tax lists, deeds, wills, court records, military records, marriage bonds, histories, genealogies, etc. This includes an analysis by Mrs. Mildred J. Miller, CG, of Wilkes Co.NC.

Research and family records of Jules Gipson of Johnson City, TX, a descendant of Archibald's by his son James.

Research and family records of D. Fred Reed of Lexington, KY, a descendant of Ezekiel Gibson, probably brother of Archibald. This includes a portion of a graduate student's thesis which Fred found in the University of KY library, regarding the Melungeon community of eastern TE Research and family records of Beverly Mundy of West Palm Beach, FL (in 1996), which included the will of Levin Cole, naming Vashti, his daughter, and Archibald Gibson.

KNOWN FACTS

1. Gibson/Gipson was spelled both ways.
2. Archebald was living in Wilkes/Ashe Co. NC 1790-93. (The part of Wilkes Co. where the Gibsons lived became Ashe Co. in 1799) (Censuses, public records)
3. He married Vashti Cole, dau. of Levin Cole, who was living in Wilkes/Ashe Co. 1787-1791. (Levin Cole's LWT) And her name was spelled "Vashti".
4. They were living in KY 1793-1829. (Their first child born in NC 1793; second child born in KY 1794) Arch and Vash. are in Floyd Co.KY records 1810-1824. Their son John Gibson bought land in IN 28 Oct 1828, and they are listed in Hendricks Co.IN 1830 census.
5. They were living in Jamestown (Hendricks Co.) IN from 1829-1855, when they both died.
6. They had at least nine children.
7. They were listed in the 1850 census as "illiterate." The ages given in the censuses 1810-1850 are not at all consistent. In 1850, their places of birth are recorded as "PA" (Pennsylvania) which does not appear to be correct. Jules Gipson believed they gave the place of birth as "Pittsylvania"--meaning Pittsylvania Co. VA. (Jules had worked for the Census Bureau and had many similar mistakes in old census records!

ESTIMATING ARCHIBALD'S BIRTHDATE: based on the following, let's say--he was born c.1769

b. 1760	(gravestone says 95 yrs. in 1855)
b. aft. 1766	(when Pittsy.Co.VA formed from old Lunenburg Co.VA)
b. by 1769	Tax lists in Wilkes Co.NC -Ray's Dist. Also in 1790 cns.

b. 1755 - 1774 (26-45 in 1810 Floyd Co.KY cns) (Cont. nxt. pge.)
b. by 1775 (over 45 in 1820 Floyd Co.KY cns.)
b. 1770-1780 (50-60 in 1830 Floyd Co.,KY cns.)
b. 1760-1770 (70-80 in 1840 Hendricks Co.IN cns.)
b. 1758 (92 in 1850 IN cns.)

VASHTI COLE GIBSON'S BIRTHDATE: based on the following, let's say-- she was b. by 1775...a date which fit nicely into Levin Cole's family as listed for me by Beverly Mundy.

b. 1762 (93 yrs.old at death in 1855)
b. 1784-1794 (16-26 yrs. in 1810)
b. by 1775 (over 45 in 1820)
b. 1770-1780 (50-60 in 1830)
b. 1760-1770 (60-70 in 1840)
b. 1758 (92 in 1850)
b. 1778-1780 (if 15-17 yrs. when had first child in 1793)
b. c.1771 (if near forty when had last child in 1811)

Vashti's name: Veshte, Veshta, Basht, Bashiba, Abashta,etc. Vashti was probably named for Queen Vashti in the Book of Esther.

ARCHIBALD'S ORIGINS

I was in touch with Jules Gipson of Johnson City, TX very early in my search for Archebald Gipson's origins and descendants. Jules said he had always been told by his family that the Gibsons were from VA. and explained the possible confusion over "Pennsylvania" and "Pittsylvania" Co. VA which is located on the VA/SC state line.

Pierre Haynes had found the LWT of a James Gibson of Bedford Co.VA who d.1764-5, naming his children, including sons James, John and Archebald.

On the strength of these findings, I concentraited on Gibsons in VA and NC. My researcher, using the excellent Ft.Wayne,IN genalogical library, sent me everything on Gibsons she could find in those two states, which was enough to fill two large gift boxes with data. From that material, I sifted out a group in Pittsylvania/Henry Co. VA which appeared to be the same as the group in Wilkes/Ashe Co.NC. Mildred J. Miller, CG, of Wilkes Co.NC agreed with my findings. She believed that the Wilkes,Ashe Co.NC Gibsons originated in Pittsylvania/Henry Co. VA; that Archibald, Ezekiel and Zachariah were probably brothers; and that other Gibsons in Wilkes/Ashe Co. were related in some way. The presence of the Terry and Justice families in VA., NC and KY as neighbors of the Gibsons re-enforced the entire notion. The presence of the Collins family, including Vardi Collins, and Shepard Gibson suggested that Archibald's origins were a mix of English, Portuguese and Cherokee. (see the article on Melungeons.)

Notes: Bedford Co.VA was formed from Lunenburg Co. 1753.

Henry Co.VA was originally Lunenburg Co.. The same area became part of Halifax Co.1752 and part of Pittsylvania Co. 1766. Was finally Henry Co. 1776.

Wilkes/Ashe Co.NC: the part of Wilkes Co. where the Gibsons lived became Ashe Co. in 1799.

Excerpts from letter of Mildred J. Miller, CG of Wilkes Co.NC (1 Mar 1991): "...It appears to me that these Gibsons originated in the part of Pittsylvania County, VA that became Henry County in 1776. As you say, there is no proof, but the circumstantial evidence points to this conclusion..

"It looks like Ezekiel and Zacharaiah who were in Wilkes/Ashe County, then Floyd Co.Kentucky were Archibald's brothers...Thomas may also be a brother...Joel...another candidate...as well as William..."

Excerpts from Graduate Student's Thesis on Melungeons: University of Kentucky Library, pp.46-48: "...the Department of Interior was compiling a special report, Indians Taxed and Not Taxed (1894), drawn from the 1890 census....The people of Vardy were included...as presumed Melungeons...described as remnants of the Eastern Cherokee....claim to be Cherokee of mixed blood ...the Indian blood is traced to two Cherokee Indians known as Collins and Gibson, who reported settled in the mountains of East Tennessee in approximately 1796....The Portuguese stock is said to derive from a man named Denham...supposedly a sailor put ashore on the coast of North Carolina for being troublesome to the captain of a private vessel...married a Collins woman.

...Vardiman Collins and Shephard Gibson...were among the earliest settlers in the Newman's Ridge area. From North Carolina, Vardiman or Vardy Collins was probably a half-breed Indian...who married Margaret (Peggy) Gibson from Virginia. Known as "Spanish Peggy," she was, in some uncertain degree, of Spanish origin. She was a sister to Shepard Gibson, who accompanied Vardy Collins...

...Vardiman was the son of Navarrh H. (Henry) Collins...born in Virginia approximately 1699...Henry, in turn was the son of Henry Collins, an indentured servant of Thomas Wood. "Spanish Peggy" was the daughter of John Gibson of Currituck County, North Carolina. John, in turn, was the son of Henry Gibson, also of Currituck County who appears on a 1715 tax list for the county...the Gibsons were supposed to have been engaged in piracy off the Atlantic coast."

Note that "Spanish Peggy" and presumably her brother Shepard Gibson were originally from VA.

NOTES FROM MSP

I am not surprised at the possibility that the Gibsons were part Indian! As I was growing up, I heard many allusions our Indian blood. My uncle Park Haynes (Pierre's brother) had some Indian characteristics--black straight hair, black eyes, high cheek bones and dark skin. D. Fred Reed, who found the article about the Melungeons, described several members of his family in similar terms.

This may or may not be related: Elizabeth Gibson, youngest daughter of Archibald and Vashti, claimed in the 1880 census that she was born in TE. c.1809-1810.

The Tennessee part of the Gibson story needs ALOT more work!

Sources and notes: The above information was sent to me in 1996 by Beverly A. Munday, 1356 Longarzo Place, West Palm Beach, FL 33415. Mrs. Munday's husband was descended from Levin Cole. The names of the children and their spouses came largely from deeds settling the estate of Levin Cole.

Sarah Francis m. 2nd John Cunningham c. 1817

Phone conversation with B. Munday 8-9-98 in which she suggested that Levin Cole was not Melungeon, and therefore his daughter Vashti and her Melungeon husband (Archibald Gibson) were "ostracized" from the family.
She pointed out that it appears that Arch and Vashti did not receive and sell their share of the Levin Cole estate until some 15 yrs. after his death.
